Cooper Gets Go-Ahead For 22 Orbits; Recovery Scheduled In Pacific Tonight

WORK IS PROGRESSING on the new high school at Pughtown which will consolidate the upper grades of Chester, Newell and New Cumberland late this fall. These views show the rear of the ultra-modern classroom building (top), where workmen are applying roofing material, and the huge gymnasium. The campus-styled buildings are designed to blend with the contour of a 96-acre sloping tract along Gas Valley Rd. Work on the gymnasium is not as far along as the actual classroom buildings, as the contractors rush to get the teaching facilities under roof in time for fall classes. The buildings are part of a $5¼-million expansion program, most ambitious ever launched by the Hancock County Board of Education. The program also includes a new high school and Junior high in Weirton and an elementary school in Chester.

In Privacy Of His Space Cabin

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Call it nonchalance, or just easy going, but sometimes—within the privacy of his sky cabin—it's hard to tell whether astronaut Gordon Cooper is awake or asleep.

Even in the last tense minutes, waiting to blast off, Cooper may have dozed off.

Again—in some quiet moments as he approached the California coast on his second orbit—Cooper dropped off to sleep again.

Finally after 12 hours and 40 minutes in space, Cooper reached the 10-hour period circumscribed as a "don't call me, I'll call you" time in which he could rest undisturbed by calls from the ground.

It took him barely five minutes to relax to the point where his doctors could say it appeared he was asleep.

The doctors say Cooper was very near sleep, if not actually dozing at a time during the last 60 minutes of his countdown.

They watched on the instruments as his breathing rate fell to a sleeping pattern of about 12 breaths a minute, and became very regular and his heart indicated sleep too.

They got the same report from the astronaut's body Wednesday night as he passed over Ascension Island, about five minutes after his rest period began.

Being considerate fellows, they didn't ring him up and ask if he was asleep.

Unlike most bosses, space officials don't look down on this kind of catnap on the job. Also unlike most bosses they can tell whether an astronaut is dozing because the space pilot's body is wired with sensors that tattle on him—take his electrocardiogram, breathing rate, temperature and so forth.

Actually his doctors were happy to see him napping earlier in the flight because it indicated he would have little trouble sleeping during the rest period.

Astronaut's Reported In Great Shape

Slept Soundly 7½ Hours; Landing Set For 7:23 DST

By BEM PRICE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Gordon Cooper, a superb space pilot but a mighty quiet man, whirled steadily around the globe today with a green light to go for the full 22 orbits of his assigned mission.

During the 16th orbit, Mercury Control Center at Cape Canaveral evaluated the condition of the astronaut and spacecraft systems and then waved Cooper's Faith 7 past a go-no-go decision point over Australia.

"Roger very good," was Cooper's reaction when the tracking station at Muchea, Australia, relayed the good word.

If anything had been amiss, Cooper would have been ordered to fire his spacecraft reverse rockets over the eastern Pacific for a landing in the Atlantic Ocean.

Control Center officials reported the pilot was "in excellent condition. He is strong, his attitude is good and he is managing his systems excellently."

Cooper, 36, an Air Force major completed his first 24 hours in space shortly after 8 a.m. while whirling eastward in his 16th orbit. During that time, he got a good night's rest of about 7½ hours.

"Did you have any dreams?" Cooper was asked as he passed near Cape Canaveral not long after he awoke.

"Negative," he replied. "I slept too soundly."

Cooper wasn't saying much.

"I think he must be saving words for posterity or something," said Lt. Col. John A. Powers, the voice of Mercury Control.

But as a pilot, Cooper's performance topped anything by a U.S. astronaut so far.

His use of the fuel and oxygen supplies of his Faith 7 spacecraft were excellent. As his 16th orbit

Toronto Titanium In Cooper's Capsule

The titanium metal used in the space capsule in which Astronaut Cooper is orbiting was produced at the Toronto plant of Titanium Metals Corp. of America.

Some 650 pounds of titanium are used in the capsule. The metal provides the strength of steel at half the weight. The space capsule is made of a titanium skeleton.

Aims At Racial Strife

Desegregation Pact Supported

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A desegregation pact aimed at ending this industrial city's racial unrest has the backing of some of Alabama's most prominent businessmen.

Their names were disclosed Wednesday night amid reports of a budding boycott of stores by white persons opposing the biracial agreement.

Both white and Negro leaders say they will stick to the agreement despite efforts to influence white shoppers to boycott downtown merchants.

Negroes, who launched a boycott a year ago in their campaign for desegregation, are appearing in greater numbers in the stores, but merchants report fewer white shoppers. The merchants are worried, and some say the city's economic plight, aleady bad is becoming more serious.

Commission Mayor Arthur Hanes and Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor have called on white residents to boycott the downtown merchants in retaliation for the desegregation pact.

A spokesman for a citizens committee said release of the names of 77 persons asked to participate in efforts to solve the city's racial problems was designed to avert further violence and to head off a large scale white boycott. The spokesman said "only a few" of the 77 did not participate in the committee's efforts. They were not designated.

In Montgomery, Gov. George C. Wallace, an avid segregationist, accused President Kennedy of setting up a military dictatorship by sending special troops into Alabama for possible use in Birmingham. The governor promised to file a suit in federal court to test the legality of the President's order.

Kennedy ordered 3,000 combat-trained troops to Alabama bases for possible use in Birmingham after bloody rioting erupted in the city last weekend.

A Negro integration leader, the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth Jr., was convicted in City Court of parading without a permit in a mass march April 12. He was sentenced to 180 days in jail, fined $100 and released under an appeal bond of $2,500.

Driver Hurt As Car Flips At Substation

4 Injured As Autos Hit Almost Headon In Route 14 Mishap

A Negley area man was hospitalized early today after his car overturned and damaged some construction forms in the Freeway area along Route 30's substation district and four others were hurt in a two-car crash on Route 14 near Unity Wednesday.

Charles McCullough, 31, of Negley R. D. 1 was in "good" condition today at City Hospital with severe lacerations of fingers of the left hand suffered in the early-morning mishap.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said McCullough, headed west, lost control of the 1957 coach which veered off the left side of the highway and overturned, striking the concrete construction forms.

The mishap was timed at 2:50 a. m.

Three East Palestine residents and a Salem area man were treated at Salem City Hospital after two cars collided from opposite directions on Route 14 some two miles east of Route 7 at 10:45 p.m.

The patrol said a car driven by Peter J. Castiglioni, 41, of Neely Manor, headed east, and another operated by Billy W. Longanecker, 35, of Salem R. D. 5, headed west, collided when Longanecker lost control.

The left front of each auto was heavily damaged.

Longanecker suffered a laceration of the scalp. Mrs. Rose Castiglioni, 38, received bruises of the left shoulder and a thumb injury, and two other passengers—Norma Ross, 19, of 220 Garfield St., East Palestine, and Ronald Ross, 22, of 313 E. Main St., East Palestine — suffered bruises and lacerations.

Longanecker was charged with unsafe operation.

House Passes Bill To Boost National Debt

Senate's Leaders Eye Move Before It Hits $305 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders plan to bring a debt limit raising bill to a vote before the debt bumps against the present $305 billion lid. The Treasury expects this to happen before the end of the month.

The bill squeaked through the House 213 to 204 Wednesday as opposing Republicans and conservative Southern Democrats put on their most impressive show of strength in the present Congress. Democrats predict another close success in the Senate.

During Wednesday's debate fiscal conservatives insisted the Kennedy administration could be forced to trim its spending if the bill were defeated—or a Republican substitute continuing the present ceiling indefinitely were adopted.

Without any congressional action, the debt limit would drop automatically to $285 billion July 1.

The House-passed bill would raise it immediately to $307 billion, than on July 1 to $309 billion, effective through Aug. 31. Before then, it is generally expected, the ceiling will have to be raised again, especially if Congress passes President Kennedy's tax cut legislation.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd of the Senate Finance Committee tentatively scheduled a session for next Wednesday on the debt ceiling.

Although the Virginia Democrat personally opposes increasing the limit, he is understood to have promised prompt handling of the bill, following a personal appeal by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

The nine-vote margin by which the House passed the bill matched the closest previous administration victory in the present Congress, on a feed grain program.

Golden-Age Villages Win Approval Of Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With considerable Democratic help, the Ohio House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill to construct "Golden-Age Villages" for Ohio's non-psychotic aged.

The 94-29 action signalled, for all practical purposes, the end of the stream of bills through the House sponsored by the Republican administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

About the only Rhodes bill left in the house is a measure to permit Ohio to participate in the federal program of Aid to the Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADCU).

Another major piece of legislation still pending in the House is to modify in a number of ways the present law covering payments to Ohioans injured while working at their jobs.

Approval of the "Golden - Age Villages" measure came after prolonged Democratic opposition which asserted that the same program had been started three years ago by the Democratic administration of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle without any cost to the taxpayers.

Rhodes adherents retorted that because projects authorized by a three-member building authority would be financed by revenue bonds, there would be no cost to the taxpayer. They said bonds for the projects would be retired from rents and fees charged village occupants who would be, presumably, receiving either Social Security or Aid for Aged payments.

City Resident Dies Of Electrical Burns

Funeral arrangements are pending for Louis Bernard Noland, 25, who died Wednesday about 6:30 p. m. at a hospital in Alexandria, Va., of extensive burns received from a power line.

The East Liverpool man was burned Wednesday when he apparently came in contact with a high tension line while riding on top of a freight train near Alexandria.

Noland left East Liverpool last week in search of work at Baltimore, where he once worked in a steel mill.

Accord Reported Reached

Freedom Due Cardinal; To Get High Vatican Post

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—The Vatican, the United States and Hungary's Communist government reportedly have reached an agreement that will allow Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty to leave for Rome.

High Vatican sources said they expected the 71-year-old Roman Catholic primate of Hungary in Rome in a few days to assume a high Vatican post.

Informants in Budapest reported Wednesday night that long negotiations proved fruitful.

Freeing of the cardinal would remove one barrier to resumption of normal diplomatic relations between the United States and Hungary and would improve relations between the Vatican and the Hungarian government.

No information was available on details of the agreement, but it is believed to include other concessions to the Vatican.

The Hungarian Communist sentenced the prelate to life imprisonment in 1949 for alleged high treason. Liberated in the 1956 uprising he took refuge in the U.S. Legation in Budapest when the Soviets crushed the revolt and he has been there ever since.

Hunston Improves

LISBON — Columbiana County Commissioner Walter Hunston of East Palestine has shown some slight improvement at Youngstown South Side Hospital, where he was admitted early Tuesday morning with a chest ailment, the family reported today. The 71-year-old commissioner had been in "serious" condition.

Goldwater's Against Fund Bid For Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he has asked three California GOP groups to stop raising presidential campaign funds for him.

Goldwater said Wednesday he had written two organizations of volunteers, notifying them he isn't a candidate for the 1964 nomination and that he wants them to halt any fund collection for that purpose.

To avoid embarrassment of individuals involved, he didn't name the groups. He said he had reports a third organization was collecting funds, but didn't know its name so had written a GOP county chairman asking him to act.

The action by Goldwater was somewhat similar to that taken by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in calling off the efforts of former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to organize a nomination drive for the New Yorker in California.

Cooper's Wife Plans Flight Of Her Own

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Gordon Cooper was planning a flight of her own today as her astronaut husband whizzed around the earth, making American space history.

Mrs. Cooper, a pretty brunette, said she planned to take her teenage daughters with her when she flies to Hawaii Friday for a reunion with Cooper if his 34-hour, 22-orbit flight ends in the Pacific as scheduled.

Trudy Cooper saw on television Wednesday what she termed a "beautiful" launch for her husband's Faith 7 capsule. She and her two daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, talked with Cooper by telephone just before the near-perfect blastoff at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The family watched the launching on four television sets in their brick and stone ranch-style home 25 miles east of downtown Houston.

Following the launching Mrs. Cooper entertained wives of other astronauts. In all the wives of 10 astronauts—old and new—visited the Cooper home.

Aims At Racial Strife

Desegregation Pact Supported

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A desegregation pact aimed at ending this industrial city's racial unrest has the backing of some of Alabama's most prominent businessmen.

Their names were disclosed Wednesday night amid reports of a budding boycott of stores by white persons opposing the biracial agreement.

Both white and Negro leaders say they will stick to the agreement despite efforts to influence white shoppers to boycott downtown merchants.

Negroes, who launched a boycott a year ago in their campaign for desegregation, are appearing in greater numbers in the stores, but merchants report fewer white shoppers. The merchants are worried, and some say the city's economic plight, aleady bad is becoming more serious.

Commission Mayor Arthur Hanes and Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor have called on white residents to boycott the downtown merchants in retaliation for the desegregation pact.

A spokesman for a citizens committee said release of the names of 77 persons asked to participate in efforts to solve the city's racial problems was designed to avert further violence and to head off a large scale white boycott. The spokesman said "only a few" of the 77 did not participate in the committee's efforts. They were not designated.

In Montgomery, Gov. George C. Wallace, an avid segregationist, accused President Kennedy of setting up a military dictatorship by sending special troops into Alabama for possible use in Birmingham. The governor promised to file a suit in federal court to test the legality of the President's order.

Cooper Given 'Green Light' For 22 Orbits

began, Powers reported that Cooper had 70 per cent of the fuel supply remaining in Faith 7's automatic control system, 90 per cent in the manual system. In his first 24 hours aloft he consumed only 25 per cent of his primary oxygen supply and none of his emergency supply.

However, Powers said absolutely no consideration was being given to a possible extension of the flight past 22 orbits.

Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., said he had spoken to Cooper's wife, Trudy, in Houston, Tex., this morning and that she told him she had awakened about the same time her husband apparently awoke.

She wished to know when she could listen in again on the special radio installed in the Cooper home for the conversations between her husband and Cape Canaveral, Schirra said.

He added, "She's in good spirits."

Cooper went to sleep about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday night, after talking with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., who is aboard the tracking ship Coastal Sentry off the coast of Japan. Tracking stations kept silent through the night.

And then at 5:26 a.m., Powers said, trackers in Muchea, Australia "heard a familiar voice, and it was that of Gordon Cooper."

Cooper reported that he had some discomfort during the night when his spacesuit heated up. But he said he adjusted the temperature setting and went back to sleep.

Powers said the astronaut reported that "as far as he was concerned everything on the spacecraft was nominal."

Nominal is an astronaut word meaning normal.

If all goes as planned Cooper's "Faith 7" spacecraft will parachute into the Pacific Ocean during the 22nd orbit, landing at 6:23 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, today some 80 miles southeast of Midway Island near the aircraft carrier, Kearsarge.

Early in the flight, and while Cooper, 36, chatted his way from sunset to sunset as if he did this sort of thing every day, the earthbound technicians and scientists were jubilant.

After describing the operation as a "textbook flight" "perfect" and "beautiful," they described themselves as "overjoyed"—and then ran out of adjectives.

As for Cooper, he dined—sort of—around 5 p.m., some nine hours after he blasted aloft with a rumble and a flash from Cape Canaveral atop a 360,000-pound thrust Atlas rocket.

For food he had aboard some bite-sized protein packed cubes which he could consume, wrapping and all, and some squeeze tube stuff which has yet to be endorsed by gourmets.

During the 9th orbit—about 8:45 p.m.—the 147-pound Cooper reported he was knocking off work for a while.

With this word the ground communications stations hung a verbal "do not disturb" sign on the "Faith 7."

However, when the spacecraft passed over the command ship, Coastal Sentry off the coast of Japan, Cooper checked in with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

Said Glenn: "We had a message out around the range to keep things quiet."

Cooper: "Roger."

Glenn: "Did you say you were asleep just before this pass?"

Cooper: "I was daydreaming, looking out the window."

At this point, Glenn said he knew Cooper wanted to get some slumber and "We'll tell everyone to go away and leave you alone. Okay?"

It was difficult to tell whether Cooper yawned at this point, but if so, it was the longest distance yawn in history. In any case the "Roger" was a sleepy one.

During the 11th orbit there was a moment when doctors thought the astronaut was dreaming. His heartbeat jumped suddenly to 100 beats a minute, and then dropped back to a steady 58 to 60 beats.

After a study of telemetry data, however, the space monitors said Cooper's spacesuit temperature had risen 20 degrees. He apparently awoke suddenly—causing the faster heartbeat—reset the temperature and went back to sleep.

Since Cooper had been launched on an inclination to the equator of 32.5 degrees and the earth kept moving under him, the capsule slipped more and more to the southeast from the Cape during the day.

He passed South Africa, Australia, India Indo-China and mainland China.

On the 7th orbit Cooper had gone into drifting flight which meant the spacecraft was rotating aimlessly through the trajectory remained fixed by the ballistic impulse.

But it didn't make any difference to Cooper since he was weightless anyway and couldn't tell up from down.

Trial Continued In Repair Order

Because the defendant reported renovation is under way, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted another continuance in a scheduled hearing for Robert Kaiser, 1221 Pennsylvania Ave., charged with failure to comply with a fire marshal's order to make repairs to property he owns at Central Ave. and Ridge Alley.

Kaiser originally was brought before the court Dec. 20 on an affidavit signed by George Boston of Wintersville, deputy state fire marshal, alleging that Kaiser had "wilfully or negligently failed, neglected or refused to comply with" a repair order issued Sept. 4, 1960.

Today's action marked the fifth continuance in the case. Kaiser reported to the judge today that repairs are in progress on the building. He said he talked yesterday with Fire Chief Charles Bryan and was told the chief "is willing to go along with an extension of the order" and feels the fire marshal will agree. The judge then set the case for Monday, June 17.

Beaver Man Drowns Working In Reservoir

MONACA — A construction worker drowned Tuesday when he fell into a reservoir while helping a fellow worker.

Police said Contenta and Joseph Nanni of Leetsdale were working near the Monaca Heights Reservoir. Nanni went to the reservoir to get a bucket of water. He fell in and called for help. Contenta took off his belt and threw one end to Nanni. As he was pulling Nanni from the water he slipped and fell in. Nanni was able to get out.

Fire Truck Expected Back In Service Soon

Repairs to the American LaFrance pumper, deadlined for the last week, are expected to be completed today or Friday, Chief Charles Bryan said today.

Repair of the truck was delayed until parts could be ordered from New York.

Contract Let On Lights In Parking Lots

The Midland Municipal Authority Wednesday night decided to contract with the Duquesne Light Co. for the lighting of the two new municipal parking lots.

Ray Cooper of the Central Sign Co. of East Liverpool discussed types of signs for the lots and the authority will purchase them after making a selection.

It was announced that the Crucible Steel Co. will fill the underpass near the hospital area, thus requiring a larger flow-off pipe for the new No. 3 lot. This extra-size pipe will cost about $180 over the original estimate. A change order was approved.

The authority was notified that legal advertising for a quantity of new parking meters has been submitted to the newspapers.

A bid for new billing machines for $7,028 was received from the Burroughs Corp. and turned over to the authority's consulting engineer for study. A report will be made at the next meeting June 19. This was the only bid.

Water department bills of $25,916.04, sewage department bills of $1579.81 and parking department bills for $3,275.60 were ordered paid. Reports were received and filed.

Trial Continued In Repair Order

Because the defendant reported renovation is under way, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted another continuance in a scheduled hearing for Robert Kaiser, 1221 Pennsylvania Ave., charged with failure to comply with a fire marshal's order to make repairs to property he owns at Central Ave. and Ridge Alley.

Kaiser originally was brought before the court Dec. 20 on an affidavit signed by George Boston of Wintersville, deputy state fire marshal, alleging that Kaiser had "wilfully or negligently failed, neglected or refused to comply with" a repair order issued Sept. 4, 1960.

Today's action marked the fifth continuance in the case. Kaiser reported to the judge today that repairs are in progress on the building. He said he talked yesterday with Fire Chief Charles Bryan and was told the chief "is willing to go along with an extension of the order" and feels the fire marshal will agree. The judge then set the case for Monday, June 17.

Approximately 50 guests were greeted by the hostesses, who included Mrs. William R. Kelly, first vice president; Mrs. Louis Tobin, recording secretary; Mrs. Dale Thompson, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Kerr, Executive Board member.

Contract Let On Lights In Parking Lots

The Midland Municipal Authority Wednesday night decided to contract with the Duquesne Light Co. for the lighting of the two new municipal parking lots.

Ray Cooper of the Central Sign Co. of East Liverpool discussed types of signs for the lots and the authority will purchase them after making a selection.

It was announced that the Crucible Steel Co. will fill the underpass near the hospital area, thus requiring a larger flow-off pipe for the new No. 3 lot. This extra-size pipe will cost about $180 over the original estimate. A change order was approved.

The authority was notified that legal advertising for a quantity of new parking meters has been submitted to the newspapers.

A bid for new billing machines for $7,028 was received from the Burroughs Corp. and turned over to the authority's consulting engineer for study. A report will be made at the next meeting June 19. This was the only bid.

Water department bills of $25,916.04, sewage department bills of $1579.81 and parking department bills for $3,275.60 were ordered paid. Reports were received and filed.

She failed to report to court, but phoned the office about 9:25 a. m. and reported she had overslept. The court then granted a continuance until this morning at 9.

When the defendant failed to appear this morning, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff issued a bench warrant which was served by Officer Smith.

We Needed This One, Gentlemen

It had been a long time since Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom demonstrated in the summer of 1961 that the United States was on the way belatedly with its space project. Their suborbital flights lasted only a few minutes, compared with the full orbital flight of the Soviet Union's Yuri Gagarin, first human being to orbit the earth.

It had been a long time since the perfect six-orbit flight of Walter M. Schirra last October, opening the way for the climactic effort this year of L. Gordon Cooper. John Glenn and Scott Carpenter were fading out of memory. Our space spirits needed a lift.

LET SCIENTISTS and space explorers be as preoccupied as they choose to be with space probes. Let politicians and nationalists be deeply concerned with the importance of keeping up with and ultimately passing the Russians, who were first in space and hope to become first on the earth.

But for the rest of us—all of us footing the staggering bill for this costly space project — there is another reason for wanting success.

Our morale needs it. We are stuck in the sand at our own doubts.

We are crying with a loaf of bread under our arm but we're crying. We miss a feeling once universal among Americans that this country is an automatic first; that it always can do anything any other country can do, better.

We crave the sensation of full-speed-ahead progress.

Americans want to believe no other society can match strides with this unique society of free men.

WE NEEDED to finish the Mercury project with a success, not just for scientists and space explorers, but for all of us.

Suddenly, it isn't enough to have the most bath tubs, telephones, refrigerators, TV sets, autos, picture windows, air conditioners and cholesterol deposits.

It has become important to know we can match the best efforts of any competitor in any chosen field, and our Russian competitors have forced us to tackle space.

We needed a success. Thank you, Major L. Gordon Cooper. Thanks again, all other astronauts of Mercury Project. All good wishes for your future success and the success of your successors, who will try to reach the moon.

And good wishes for our success too. We need to make our "systems" go a lot better than some of them have been going lately.

The Pot Boils

Frank P. Duffy's victory over Mayor Bert H. Goodballet in the Democratic primary has stirred renewed interest in local politics.

The thinking is both pro and con regarding Mr. Duffy, but, regardless, the fact that the pot is boiling is a healthy sign. It's highly probable that the increasing tempo will have a stimulating effect on electorate and candidates alike.

With the voters giving every indication of being ready to listen, the candidates have a golden opportunity to lay their platforms squarely on the political line. Their declarations should be clearcut. No doubt should be left as to where each office-seeker stands on critical issues.

With the Duffy-Hall battle for mayor highlighting the races, politics has a good chance of getting out of the doldrums from now until the general election in November.

When The Marines Don't Land

Leo Durocher is starting to recount his experiences as one of baseball's fight-pickers in a national magazine. One of his stories helps to clear up the probably outcome of tension between Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

The only time he ever took a swing at Babe Ruth, recalls Durocher, was in the Yankee locker room while the King of Swat was sitting down, an ideal target for a lunge. Durocher made the lunge.

He knew a locker room fight lasts only long enough for the onlookers to break it up, being as safe in that respect as a fight on the football field, where the combatants cannot hurt each other because of the padding.

By the time Babe Ruth had scrambled off the floor after the Durocher lunge, other players had closed in to stop the fight. The day was saved for Durocher.

The question between Haiti and the Dominican Republic is how long it would take to stop a fight between them if it got started.

The Organization of American States which is deeply concerned, has no military power in being. The United Nations Security Council has no military power in being, either. The only military power in being in the Caribbean is the United States, which is not eager to get involved.

If the U.S. Marines aren't landing on Hispaniola and the fact is known, the chances of war between Haiti and the Dominican Republic are too slim to worry about. It would be as foolhardy to start a fight as it would have been for Leo Durocher to tackle George Hermann Ruth with no one on hand to stop the mayhem.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

That old nail keg we put up on a post in the backyard for a purple martin house has become a potential powder keg of the bird kingdom. Starlings and sparrows are engaged in what we hope will continue to be only a brush-fire war without enveloping the whole bird world.

We are considering measures to keep it confined but so far have not arrived at any firm decisions on how to prevent the war from spreading.

Observers report the nail keg was discovered and explored first by sparrows, which thus should be entitled to squatters' rights. They started to build the first nest.

Then, in direct violation of interflock law, starlings moved in with their superior beaks and jumped the claim of the weaker-beaked sparrows.

The sparrows had established themselves briefly in one of the lowest of the six apartments of the keg. Then the starlings opened aggression against what has become a threatened sparrow enclave.

APPARENTLY the starlings are higher than the sparrows in the pecking order. Furthermore, they have a better espionage system. Starlings have been seen nosing in and out of the sparrows' enclave apartment whereas the sparrows have made themselves scarce and largely stay away from the starlings' territory in the upper apartment.

So far, the sparrows seem to be putting all their chips on the power of passive resistance, avoiding major head-on clashes with their stronger antagonists. The sparrows harass the starlings by coming around to the keg occasionally alighting, then taking off when the starling air force dive-bombs them.

Completely disinterested observers outside the bird world, and usually reliable news sources, though not authoritative, report that uncommitted flocks, such as the robins, mourning doves and grackles, are not taking sides in this war. They are going about their daily lives as though nothing unusual was happening.

Whether or not these uncommitted flocks of the bird world will side with one or the other of the belligerents remains a prime question. Any one of the so-called neutral flocks could easily tip the balance of power if it decided to align itself with one of the factions in the conflict.

ANOTHER uncertainty is the cat. Normally, the cat is the deadly enemy of both the belligerent flocks. But if one of the flocks could persuade the cat to sign a mutual assistance pact the outcome would seen be settled.

The sparrows have been seen dropping choice tidbits of food in the path of the cat, and it is presumed this is an overt gesture to win over a lifelong enemy as an ally in the sparrows' fight for fatherland and survival.

Felineologists doubt that they can be lured into such a pact, which if strictly honored would cut off one of the cat's major sources of food.

However, the cat has never been noted for its respect for treaties and it could conceivably come to the aid of the sparrows in hopes of eventually gobbling up both belligerents, in toto.

If the cat did enter the dispute, experts predict it would be for food and not for territorial gain, because no one familiar with the area can figure out what a cat would want with an old nail keg on top of a pole.

Both sides are being closely watched for any indication of massive retaliation and eventuality which certainly would demand an agonizing reappraisal.

MEANTIME, the United Flocks is expecting momentarily an appeal from the sparrows that their internal security has been violated by an outside power.

If and when such an appeal is received it is assumed the United Flocks will organize combat units of crows, blue jays, humming birds and robins, noted for their fighting ability, and rush the units to the nail keg to restore order.

I have been on the verge of going and telling the warring factions, "Quit acting like children and grow up. Stop this nonsense."

But I know they would chirp back in one loud voice, "Look who is talking! Clean up the mess in the people's world before you give us the bird."

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Kennedy Assured Of Tax Cut

By Victor Riesel

Congress will positively vote a tax cut before it goes home in the late fall. President Kennedy's congressional leaders have told him so. They have counted the noes and the ayes have it. Such political scientists on the Hill as Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, Hubert Humphrey, the whip, and Wilbur Mills, chairman of the impregnable House Ways and Means Committee, have assured the White House in several recent conversations.

Victor Riesel

One of these men has told the President that the tax bill will slash about twice as much from taxes paid by the citizenry as it will from the levies paid by the nation's business.

Despite all the confusion, the fluminating, the pressures, this means that the final financial surgery will follow labor's program far more than it will industry's.

The man who really handles the scalpel is the gentleman from Arkansas, Chairman Wilbur Mills.

Traditionally he listens and listens before he moves.

If the administration is listening harder to the labor people, whom the President has been soft-selling en masse, it is vital to know just what the labor leaders and their men on the Hill have been saying to Chairman Mills.

What is their program?

THEY WANT a "two-step" tax slash. First they want the bulk of the cut to be taken from the lower income groups. Typical is labor's demand that the new tax law wipe out any federal payments by the head of a family of four whose income is $3,400 annually.

Labor puts it this way: Immediately establish a minimum standard deduction of $400 for an individual taxpayer. Give him $200 more allowance for each dependent. Don't remove the present $600 personal exemption for each. Thus a family of four would have tax free income of $3400.

As for the unmarried taxpayer he or she would owe nothing on the first $1,000 of income.

Labor wants other cuts: Its lobbyists want the 20 per cent tax on the first bracket taxable income under $2,000 a year pushed down.

They would divide a $2,000 yearly income into two parts. On the first $1,000 they would have the worker pay 12 per cent instead of 20 per cent (current tax). On the second $1,000, they would have him pay 15 per cent. This is for an unmarried person.

FOR THOSE who are married and paying on a joint return, the labor people want the first $2,000 of income to be taxed at 12 per cent instead of the current 20 per cent.

Labor also wants swift tax relief to small businesses. The unions' proposal would cut the tax on the first $25,000 a year profit from 30 per cent to 22 per cent.

Labor wants this entire program to be what the professionals on the Hill call "a quickie" cut. The unionists' program would have the cut retroactive to last Jan. 1. This would give the country an immediate $10 billion cut, they say.

Naturally the labor program is tough on the big corporations and what labor's literature calls "the rich." Labor complains that under President Kennedy's current plans, almost half the tax cut would go to industry and "to the 15 per cent of the taxpayers in the top-income brackets."

SO LABOR'S second step is its "loophole closing" proposals. The AFL-CIO wants to tighten the tax law on capital gains income by "extending the holding period from six months to one year."

Under the current law, for example, an actor making a killing on the stock market which is out of his line of business, pays 25 per cent tax on the profit if he holds his securities six months, but 50 per cent if he sells before the half-year period. This goes for real estate, etc.

This, the AFL-CIO refers to as a tax evasion dodge. Thus the labor people want tax cut with "reforms." In this they are finding some support from Congressman Mills.

But none of this will stand in the way of a tax cut, whatever its form, with or without reform, this fall.

There will be almost solid backing of the President, including backing from Southern Congressmen. They are uneasy over some Republican inroads and are talking of a "closer-knit Democratic party," despite the intensity of emotions at the moment on other issues.

Law Of The Case

By David Lawrence

Savannah Ruling Changes Pictures

The "law of the land" can be a federal statute or any provision of the Constitution but a Supreme Court decision is "the law of the case" and holds good only for the facts and circumstances set forth in that particular case.

David Lawrence

This differentiation now takes on new significance because of a decision just rendered by U. S. District Judge Frank M. Scarlett. He has ruled in a case tried at Savannah, Ga., that integration of the public schools can be harmful to both Negroes and whites and that the evidence on which the Supreme Court of the United States based its decision in 1954 ordering desegregation of public schools was not supported even by tests previously made by one expert in the psychological field who had testified that segregation was harmful.

The net effect of the new decision, if upheld by the Supreme Court, could be to limit the 1954 case to the principle of a political right whereby persons of any color are entitled to attend public schools, but are subject to educational standards which would be recognized as a valid basis for admission or rejection of applicants.

THE FINDINGS of Judge Scarlett are in part as follows:

"Plaintiffs' assumption of injury to Negro students by the continuance of segregated schools is not supported by any evidence in this case.

"Whatever psychological injury may be sustained by a Negro child out of his sense of rejection by white children is increased rather than abated by forced intermixture and this increase is in direct proportion to the number and extent of his contacts with white children.

"Each study presented to the court, confirmed by the opinions of the witnesses, showed that the damaging assumption of inferiority increased whenever the child is brought into forced association with white children.

"The principal author of the studies relied on by the Supreme Court in the Brown Case (1954 decision) used students from integrated schools in Northern states in getting the race rejection results which were then cited as showing such effects occurring from segregation.

"Moreover, the same author in an earlier study came to the conclusion that compulsory intermixture rather than racial separation in school was the principal source of the damaging loss of race identification.

"The adverse effects of compulsory congregation are particularly harmful in the early formative school years.

"Intervenors' witnesses noted that integration at the collegiate level is not only possible, but on a voluntary basis might be of advantage to both white and Negro students. The findings herein are accordingly limited to children of primary and secondary - school ages."

THE COURT further ruled that "selective integration would cause even greater psychological harm to the individual Negro children involved and to the balance of their group."

The intervenors in the current case charged in their brief before the court in Savannah that one expert who had testified in the 1954 school desegregation case was on the payroll of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and that this was not revealed to the Supreme Court.

The brief contends also that the court wasn't told that the same expert had earlier conducted tests which produced a different finding from that which he submitted to the court.

Judge Scarlett's conclusions in the Savannah case are as follows:

"1. The white and Negro school children have equivalent rights before this court and are equally entitled to be considered in determining the scope and content of constitutional rights.

"2. A reasonable classification within the meaning of the equal protection clause of the Constitution would be one which secures the maximum result in the educational process for all students and minimum injury to any.

"3. The classification of children in the Savannah, Chatham County, schools by division on the basis of coherent groups having distinguishable educability capabilities is such a reasonable classification."

THE DECISION of the 1954 desegregation case by the Supreme Court turned largely on allegations that Negro children were unable to get an equal education under segregation in public schools.

The latest findings by Judge Scarlett say, in effect, that in integrated schools they will get even less of an education for the tests showed the average of white pupils was far above the Negro average.

The findings on this point are described in Judge Scarlett's statement as follows:

"These differences in test results, Savannah, Chatham County, are not the result of the educational system or of the social or economic differences in status or in environment of the students. These test results agree on a point - for - point basis with substantially identical results obtained from similar tests made in other areas of this country and abroad, and in both segregated and integrated situations. . . .

"Failure to attain the existing white standards would create serious psychological problems of frustration on the part of the Negro child which would require compensation via tension - creating anti-social behavior.

In other cities, this effect has created serious discipline problems for the teachers and school administrators with consequent loss of school time.

In New York, 37 per cent of Negro truants questioned in a study stated that they had run away from home because of failure to keep up in school."

The statement of findings declares, moreover, that the difference in test results between white and Negro students "is attributable in large part to hereditary factors predictably resulting from a difference in the physiological and psychological characteristics of the two races."

Doodlings Or Tragedy?

By Prudence Brown

Idle doodlings between portages or a portrait of a tragic love affair? That is the mystery of Bellows Falls, Vt.

Two century-old Indian heads may be found carved in the granite about 50 feet from the original site of the first bridge to span the Connecticut River. Some of the heads have antennas and all of them appear mopey. Named the "Great Carry," by the Pennacook Indians who portaged the 50-foot falls and were never much on wasting words, the area was a popular meeting place.

Extensive research has provided two theories for the carvings. Either the Indians were merely doodling in the rocks to pass the time of day or the heads portray some great or tragic event which befell the tribe.

Across the river in Charlestown stands Fort Four, northernmost fortification in Connecticut during the French and Indian War.

It was from that fort that Maj. Robert Rogers and his rangers embarked on their historic journey up river by canoe to raid the Indian village of St. Francis an event made popular by Kenneth Roberts' saga, "Northwest Passage." The fort is now being restored.

In the Bellows Falls business district, Howard's Hardware store is touted to be the most complete harness shop in New England. Reminiscent of horse and buggy days, the shop has two merry-go-round horses and a life-size display horse, saddled, bridled and just a whinny away from a gallop.

Today Bellows Falls is a typical New England community with a population of 4,000 running the stores, attending high school, gossiping and hanging out the wash.

Back in the 1800s, however, it was a town of "firsts." The first navigation canal in American and the aforementioned bridge across the Connecticut River were built here. Across the river in Walpole, the first log cabin built in the then wilderness was erected.

In the middle of the 19th century, many steamboats successfully operated on much of the river. The falls, however, provided a river block. In anticipation of industrial growth resulting from the coming steamboat era and in order to extend operations beyond Bellows Falls the first canal was opened in 1802.

Although the locks are now removed, the canal continues to flow through much of its original channel. And it is still put to use by the industrious New Englanders as a feeder for a power-generated plant near by.

We Needed This One, Gentlemen

It had been a long time since Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom demonstrated in the summer of 1961 that the United States was on the way belatedly with its space project. Their suborbital flights lasted only a few minutes, compared with the full orbital flight of the Soviet Union's Yuri Gagarin, first human being to orbit the earth.

It had been a long time since the perfect six-orbit flight of Walter M. Schirra last October, opening the way for the climactic effort this year of L. Gordon Cooper. John Glenn and Scott Carpenter were fading out of memory. Our space spirits needed a lift.

LET SCIENTISTS and space explorers be as preoccupied as they choose to be with space probes. Let politicians and nationalists be deeply concerned with the importance of keeping up with and ultimately passing the Russians, who were first in space and hope to become first on the earth.

But for the rest of us—all of us footing the staggering bill for this costly space project — there is another reason for wanting success.

Our morale needs it. We are stuck in the sand at our own doubts.

We are crying with a loaf of bread under our arm but we're crying. We miss a feeling once universal among Americans that this country is an automatic first; that it always can do anything any other country can do, better.

We crave the sensation of full-speed-ahead progress.

Americans want to believe no other society can match strides with this unique society of free men.

WE NEEDED to finish the Mercury project with a success, not just for scientists and space explorers, but for all of us.

Suddenly, it isn't enough to have the most bath tubs, telephones, refrigerators, TV sets, autos, picture windows, air conditioners and cholesterol deposits.

It has become important to know we can match the best efforts of any competitor in any chosen field, and our Russian competitors have forced us to tackle space.

We needed a success. Thank you, Major L. Gordon Cooper. Thanks again, all other astronauts of Mercury Project. All good wishes for your future success and the success of your successors, who will try to reach the moon.

And good wishes for our success too. We need to make our "systems" go a lot better than some of them have been going lately.

The Pot Boils

Frank P. Duffy's victory over Mayor Bert H. Goodballet in the Democratic primary has stirred renewed interest in local politics.

The thinking is both pro and con regarding Mr. Duffy, but, regardless, the fact that the pot is boiling is a healthy sign. It's highly probable that the increasing tempo will have a stimulating effect on electorate and candidates alike.

With the voters giving every indication of being ready to listen, the candidates have a golden opportunity to lay their platforms squarely on the political line. Their declarations should be clearcut. No doubt should be left as to where each office-seeker stands on critical issues.

With the Duffy-Hall battle for mayor highlighting the races, politics has a good chance of getting out of the doldrums from now until the general election in November.

When The Marines Don't Land

Leo Durocher is starting to recount his experiences as one of baseball's fight-pickers in a national magazine. One of his stories helps to clear up the probably outcome of tension between Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

The only time he ever took a swing at Babe Ruth, recalls Durocher, was in the Yankee locker room while the King of Swat was sitting down, an ideal target for a lunge. Durocher made the lunge.

He knew a locker room fight lasts only long enough for the onlookers to break it up, being as safe in that respect as a fight on the football field, where the combatants cannot hurt each other because of the padding.

By the time Babe Ruth had scrambled off the floor after the Durocher lunge, other players had closed in to stop the fight. The day was saved for Durocher.

The question between Haiti and the Dominican Republic is how long it would take to stop a fight between them if it got started.

The Organization of American States which is deeply concerned, has no military power in being. The United Nations Security Council has no military power in being, either. The only military power in being in the Caribbean is the United States, which is not eager to get involved.

If the U.S. Marines aren't landing on Hispaniola and the fact is known, the chances of war between Haiti and the Dominican Republic are too slim to worry about. It would be as foolhardy to start a fight as it would have been for Leo Durocher to tackle George Hermann Ruth with no one on hand to stop the mayhem.

Hope Remains

Mike Turk's purchase of the former Edwin M. Knowles China Co. in Newell keeps hopes alive that the plant once more will become a beehive of activity, with a much - needed payroll.

This is certain, Mr. Turk, with his boundless energy and community interest, will leave no stone unturned to get things rolling again at the one-time bustling West Virginia pottery site.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

That old nail keg we put up on a post in the backyard for a purple martin house has become a potential powder keg of the bird kingdom. Starlings and sparrows are engaged in what we hope will continue to be only a brush-fire war without enveloping the whole bird world.

We are considering measures to keep it confined but so far have not arrived at any firm decisions on how to prevent the war from spreading.

Observers report the nail keg was discovered and explored first by sparrows, which thus should be entitled to squatters' rights. They started to build the first nest.

Then, in direct violation of interflock law, starlings moved in with their superior beaks and jumped the claim of the weaker-beaked sparrows.

The sparrows had established themselves briefly in one of the lowest of the six apartments of the keg. Then the starlings opened aggression against what has become a threatened sparrow enclave.

APPARENTLY the starlings are higher than the sparrows in the pecking order. Furthermore, they have a better espionage system. Starlings have been seen nosing in and out of the sparrows' enclave apartment whereas the sparrows have made themselves scarce and largely stay away from the starlings' territory in the upper apartment.

So far, the sparrows seem to be putting all their chips on the power of passive resistance, avoiding major head-on clashes with their stronger antagonists. The sparrows harass the starlings by coming around to the keg occasionally alighting, then taking off when the starling air force dive-bombs them.

Completely disinterested observers outside the bird world, and usually reliable news sources, though not authoritative, report that uncommitted flocks, such as the robins, mourning doves and grackles, are not taking sides in this war. They are going about their daily lives as though nothing unusual was happening.

Whether or not these uncommitted flocks of the bird world will side with one or the other of the belligerents remains a prime question. Any one of the so-called neutral flocks could easily tip the balance of power if it decided to align itself with one of the factions in the conflict.

ANOTHER uncertainty is the cat. Normally, the cat is the deadly enemy of both the belligerent flocks. But if one of the flocks could persuade the cat to sign a mutual assistance pact the outcome would seen be settled.

The sparrows have been seen dropping choice tidbits of food in the path of the cat, and it is presumed this is an overt gesture to win over a lifelong enemy as an ally in the sparrows' fight for fatherland and survival.

Felineologists doubt that they can be lured into such a pact, which if strictly honored would cut off one of the cat's major sources of food.

However, the cat has never been noted for its respect for treaties and it could conceivably come to the aid of the sparrows in hopes of eventually gobbling up both belligerents, in toto.

If the cat did enter the dispute, experts predict it would be for food and not for territorial gain, because no one familiar with the area can figure out what a cat would want with an old nail keg on top of a pole.

Both sides are being closely watched for any indication of massive retaliation and eventuality which certainly would demand an agonizing reappraisal.

MEANTIME, the United Flocks is expecting momentarily an appeal from the sparrows that their internal security has been violated by an outside power.

If and when such an appeal is received it is assumed the United Flocks will organize combat units of crows, blue jays, humming birds and robins, noted for their fighting ability, and rush the units to the nail keg to restore order.

I have been on the verge of going and telling the warring factions, "Quit acting like children and grow up. Stop this nonsense."

But I know they would chirp back in one loud voice, "Look who is talking! Clean up the mess in the people's world before you give us the bird."

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Kennedy Assured Of Tax Cut

By Victor Riesel

Congress will positively vote a tax cut before it goes home in the late fall. President Kennedy's congressional leaders have told him so. They have counted the noes and the ayes have it. Such political scientists on the Hill as Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, Hubert Humphrey, the whip, and Wilbur Mills, chairman of the impregnable House Ways and Means Committee, have assured the White House in several recent conversations.

Victor Riesel

One of these men has told the President that the tax bill will slash about twice as much from taxes paid by the citizenry as it will from the levies paid by the nation's business.

Despite all the confusion, the fluminating, the pressures, this means that the final financial surgery will follow labor's program far more than it will industry's.

The man who really handles the scalpel is the gentleman from Arkansas, Chairman Wilbur Mills.

Traditionally he listens and listens before he moves.

If the administration is listening harder to the labor people, whom the President has been soft-selling en masse, it is vital to know just what the labor leaders and their men on the Hill have been saying to Chairman Mills.

What is their program?

THEY WANT a "two-step" tax slash. First they want the bulk of the cut to be taken from the lower income groups. Typical is labor's demand that the new tax law wipe out any federal payments by the head of a family of four whose income is $3,400 annually.

Labor puts it this way: Immediately establish a minimum standard deduction of $400 for an individual taxpayer. Give him $200 more allowance for each dependent. Don't remove the present $600 personal exemption for each. Thus a family of four would have tax free income of $3400.

As for the unmarried taxpayer he or she would owe nothing on the first $1,000 of income.

Labor wants other cuts: Its lobbyists want the 20 per cent tax on the first bracket taxable income under $2,000 a year pushed down.

They would divide a $2,000 yearly income into two parts. On the first $1,000 they would have the worker pay 12 per cent instead of 20 per cent (current tax). On the second $1,000, they would have him pay 15 per cent. This is for an unmarried person.

FOR THOSE who are married and paying on a joint return, the labor people want the first $2,000 of income to be taxed at 12 per cent instead of the current 20 per cent.

Labor also wants swift tax relief to small businesses. The unions' proposal would cut the tax on the first $25,000 a year profit from 30 per cent to 22 per cent.

Labor wants this entire program to be what the professionals on the Hill call "a quickie" cut. The unionists' program would have the cut retroactive to last Jan. 1. This would give the country an immediate $10 billion cut, they say.

Naturally the labor program is tough on the big corporations and what labor's literature calls "the rich." Labor complains that under President Kennedy's current plans, almost half the tax cut would go to industry and "to the 15 per cent of the taxpayers in the top-income brackets."

SO LABOR'S second step is its "loophole closing" proposals. The AFL-CIO wants to tighten the tax law on capital gains income by "extending the holding period from six months to one year."

Under the current law, for example, an actor making a killing on the stock market which is out of his line of business, pays 25 per cent tax on the profit if he holds his securities six months, but 50 per cent if he sells before the half-year period. This goes for real estate, etc.

This, the AFL-CIO refers to as a tax evasion dodge. Thus the labor people want tax cut with "reforms." In this they are finding some support from Congressman Mills.

But none of this will stand in the way of a tax cut, whatever its form, with or without reform, this fall.

There will be almost solid backing of the President, including backing from Southern Congressmen. They are uneasy over some Republican inroads and are talking of a "closer-knit Democratic party," despite the intensity of emotions at the moment on other issues.

Law Of The Case

By David Lawrence

Savannah Ruling Changes Pictures

The "law of the land" can be a federal statute or any provision of the Constitution but a Supreme Court decision is "the law of the case" and holds good only for the facts and circumstances set forth in that particular case.

David Lawrence

This differentiation now takes on new significance because of a decision just rendered by U. S. District Judge Frank M. Scarlett. He has ruled in a case tried at Savannah, Ga., that integration of the public schools can be harmful to both Negroes and whites and that the evidence on which the Supreme Court of the United States based its decision in 1954 ordering desegregation of public schools was not supported even by tests previously made by one expert in the psychological field who had testified that segregation was harmful.

The net effect of the new decision, if upheld by the Supreme Court, could be to limit the 1954 case to the principle of a political right whereby persons of any color are entitled to attend public schools, but are subject to educational standards which would be recognized as a valid basis for admission or rejection of applicants.

THE FINDINGS of Judge Scarlett are in part as follows:

"Plaintiffs' assumption of injury to Negro students by the continuance of segregated schools is not supported by any evidence in this case.

"Whatever psychological injury may be sustained by a Negro child out of his sense of rejection by white children is increased rather than abated by forced intermixture and this increase is in direct proportion to the number and extent of his contacts with white children.

"Each study presented to the court, confirmed by the opinions of the witnesses, showed that the damaging assumption of inferiority increased whenever the child is brought into forced association with white children.

"The principal author of the studies relied on by the Supreme Court in the Brown Case (1954 decision) used students from integrated schools in Northern states in getting the race rejection results which were then cited as showing such effects occurring from segregation.

"Moreover, the same author in an earlier study came to the conclusion that compulsory intermixture rather than racial separation in school was the principal source of the damaging loss of race identification.

"The adverse effects of compulsory congregation are particularly harmful in the early formative school years.

"Intervenors' witnesses noted that integration at the collegiate level is not only possible, but on a voluntary basis might be of advantage to both white and Negro students. The findings herein are accordingly limited to children of primary and secondary - school ages."

THE COURT further ruled that "selective integration would cause even greater psychological harm to the individual Negro children involved and to the balance of their group."

The intervenors in the current case charged in their brief before the court in Savannah that one expert who had testified in the 1954 school desegregation case was on the payroll of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and that this was not revealed to the Supreme Court.

The brief contends also that the court wasn't told that the same expert had earlier conducted tests which produced a different finding from that which he submitted to the court.

Judge Scarlett's conclusions in the Savannah case are as follows:

"1. The white and Negro school children have equivalent rights before this court and are equally entitled to be considered in determining the scope and content of constitutional rights.

"2. A reasonable classification within the meaning of the equal protection clause of the Constitution would be one which secures the maximum result in the educational process for all students and minimum injury to any.

"3. The classification of children in the Savannah, Chatham County, schools by division on the basis of coherent groups having distinguishable educability capabilities is such a reasonable classification."

THE DECISION of the 1954 desegregation case by the Supreme Court turned largely on allegations that Negro children were unable to get an equal education under segregation in public schools.

The latest findings by Judge Scarlett say, in effect, that in integrated schools they will get even less of an education for the tests showed the average of white pupils was far above the Negro average.

The findings on this point are described in Judge Scarlett's statement as follows:

"These differences in test results, Savannah, Chatham County, are not the result of the educational system or of the social or economic differences in status or in environment of the students. These test results agree on a point - for - point basis with substantially identical results obtained from similar tests made in other areas of this country and abroad, and in both segregated and integrated situations. . . . .

"Failure to attain the existing white standards would create serious psychological problems of frustration on the part of the Negro child which would require compensation via tension - creating anti-social behavior.

In other cities, this effect has created serious discipline problems for the teachers and school administrators with consequent loss of school time.

In New York, 37 per cent of Negro truants questioned in a study stated that they had run away from home because of failure to keep up in school."

The statement of findings declares, moreover, that the difference in test results between white and Negro students "is attributable in large part to hereditary factors predictably resulting from a difference in the physiological and psychological characteristics of the two races."

Doodlings Or Tragedy?

By Prudence Brown

Idle doodlings between portages or a portrait of a tragic love affair? That is the mystery of Bellows Falls, Vt.

Two century-old Indian heads may be found carved in the granite about 50 feet from the original site of the first bridge to span the Connecticut River. Some of the heads have antennas and all of them appear mopey. Named the "Great Carry," by the Pennacook Indians who portaged the 50-foot falls and were never much on wasting words, the area was a popular meeting place.

Extensive research has provided two theories for the carvings. Either the Indians were merely doodling in the rocks to pass the time of day or the heads portray some great or tragic event which befell the tribe.

Across the river in Charlestown stands Fort Four, northernmost fortification in Connecticut during the French and Indian War.

It was from that fort that Maj. Robert Rogers and his rangers embarked on their historic journey up river by canoe to raid the Indian village of St. Francis an event made popular by Kenneth Roberts' saga, "Northwest Passage." The fort is now being restored.

Extradition Appeal Seen

LISBON — Three Mahoning County men early Wednesday afternoon lost their legal move to avoid extradition to West Virginia on a burglary charge, but they avoided being taken immediately when the court allowed them a 20-day stay of execution pending an appeal of Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard's ruling.

Bonds of $10,000 for Amil Dinsio, 26, of Poland, and $2,500 each for Daniel N. Marshall, 33, and Harold Dailey, 32, both of Austintown, were continued.

In a vain effort to have extradition proceedings dismissed through habeas corpus action, Defense Atty. Jack Nybell brought out misspelling of words in the extradition papers and also called on Gene Costalas, 67, of Weirton, who testified he could not make positive identification of two masked gunmen who tied him up and ransacked his home March 28.

They took about $800, including several albums of old coins which were found in possession of the three men when they drove in an all-night truck stop and restaurant, east of Columbiana, a few hours after the robbery.

The three were also bound over to the Columbiana County Grand Jury for carrying concealed weapons after two guns were found in their car.

They have 20 days from the time of the court entry yesterday to file the appeal with the 7th District Court of Appeals at Youngstown.

Ball Teams Preview Set

Plans were discussed for the Memorial Day team preview at the meeting of the South Side Athletic Club Tuesday at the Hookstown American Legion home. The South Side American Legion Post 952 will participate in a brief program and raise the colors, with the help of two players to be selected.

The post chaplain will speak briefly and Legionnaires will direct traffic. Steve Belick is in charge of having the programs prepared.

All participating teams are to meet at the field, in uniforms, by 11:30 a. m. The Shippingport volunteer fire department has donated its ambulance to stand by.

James Ashcroft, president, announced that a $12 donation was received from the Shippingport firemen and donations of $120 each from Acon Pontiac and Doty Chevrolet of Midland and Arb Motor Sales of East Liverpool.

Bills of $500 for the Burbick Hardware Co. of East Liverpool for equipment and $51.90 for the Glenn Corp. for a quantity of laminated baseball bats, were ordered paid. Ashcroft said the new bats and baseballs have been distributed.

The club voted to purchase 30 assorted bats for stock. Directors may obtain new bats by presenting those broken.

The sum of $5 was given to the National Hot Stove League for this year's charter. Ashcroft announced that an inventory will be made of all equipment issued to the clubs.

Wellsville Street Repairs Resume

Patching of streets was to resume today in Wellsville, according to Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare.

Work has been completed from 25th to 10th St. on Buckeye and the crew will work from 10th St. east today.

A batch of hotmix has been obtained from the Mingo Junction plant of the Tri-State Asphalt Co.

The oiling of alleys also is continuing, he said. The response has been very favorable, he commented. The alleys were slagged earlier and the emulsion is being applied to cut down the dust from a binding for the slag.

A centerlane has been painted on Wells Ave. at the intersection of Route 45 for eastbound motorists making a left turn. This will facilitate the flow of traffic at the intersection, he said.

The painting of yellow curbing around town is about 85 per cent complete. Riverside Ave. and Center St. were cleaned with the sweeper this week.

Extradition Appeal Seen

LISBON — Three Mahoning County men early Wednesday afternoon lost their legal move to avoid extradition to West Virginia on a burglary charge, but they avoided being taken immediately when the court allowed them a 20-day stay of execution pending an appeal of Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard's ruling.

Bonds of $10,000 for Amil Dinsio, 26, of Poland, and $2,500 each for Daniel N. Marshall, 33, and Harold Dailey, 32, both of Austintown, were continued.

In a vain effort to have extradition proceedings dismissed through habeas corpus action, Defense Atty. Jack Nybell brought out misspelling of words in the extradition papers and also called on Gene Costalas, 67, of Weirton, who testified he could not make positive identification of two masked gunmen who tied him up and ransacked his home March 28.

They took about $800, including several albums of old coins which were found in possession of the three men when they drove in an all-night truck stop and restaurant, east of Columbiana, a few hours after the robbery.

The three were also bound over to the Columbiana County Grand Jury for carrying concealed weapons after two guns were found in their car.

They have 20 days from the time of the court entry yesterday to file the appeal with the 7th District Court of Appeals at Youngstown.

Parade Float Forms Ready At Midland

Entry blanks are now available for groups, organizations and individuals who plan to enter floats and other units in Midland's annual July 4th celebration, the Executive Committe announced.

Forms are available at the borough secretary's office, the Police Station, the Midland News office and the Chamber of Commerce office at the McGeehan Agency. Forms will be mailed to those who entered floats last year.

All forms must be returned by June 25 to the Police Station. The entry blanks are for any groups who will enter floats, marching groups, including Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations, drill teams and decorated bicycles.

All float entries must be on the theme, "Let Freedom Ring," to be considered in judging. Advertising on floats is prohibited. Entry blanks must be completed in full for expediting the mailing of prize money.

The committee at a recent meeting selected the celebration theme and announced prizes, totaling $730, for float winners in the general and youth classes.

Last year's parade included 4,000 marchers and 17 musical units and about 17 floats among 108 units. The crowd from the Tri-State area numbered over 20,000.

At a brief meeting of the committee Tuesday night in the Borough Building, Steve Trbovich, finance officer, reported that solicitations are continuing for funds for the celebration. He asked mill employes, merchants and organizations to participate in the drive for funds reminding them that the success of the celebration depends on the amount of money obtained.

William Vinovich, vice chairman, presided. Next meeting of the committee will be announced.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Deal Heloise: I am a deaf mute. I am the mother of three children.

Before I remove my laundry from the clothes lines . . . I give my three children a squirt bottle (the type that has a push button on top) and let them fill it with hot water and then go to the clothes line and squirt and spray all my clothes before removing them from the line. The children love it!

As soon as this is done my children remove the clothes and roll them up into balls, and put them into plastic bags I can leave them overnight. The children have pleased me, and they also felt satisfaction out of helping their mother.

I thought this might help "hearing" mothers also. It is great fun. . . whether you can hear or not, just to see your children come home from school and pick up those bottles and spray the clothes on your line and have them sprinkle your clothes.

And may God Bless you always, Heloise. I come from a completely deaf family. I do hope you understand as will some of my other coffee friends.

ROSE R.

My grandparents were totally deaf. I talk the sign language. So, I understand. I think you are doing wonderfully with your children.

Wish I was in your kitchen having a cup of coffee. Couldn't we have fun? We all love you!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My husband works on different shifts.

Since my husband eats at one time and we eat another I solved the problem of preparing two different evening meals by saving my foil TV dinner plates from previous purchases.

I prepare dinner for my husband at the appropriate hour. With what is left I simply make up six TV dinner plates for me and the children with whatever I have prepared for him.

Now here's the catch:

Since we eat the dinners the same evening there is no need to freeze these!

We cover the TV plate with foil and place it in the refrigerator until ready to eat.

When he is on the other shift I do it visa versa. When husband comes home, place the dinner in the oven and set it at 400 for 15 or 20 minutes.

I dot my potatoes with butter instead of using gravy and put the extra gravy on the meat. This also is an excellent idea for mothers who must leave children with a baby sitter.

Dinners may be prepared in advance for the sitter and children with no extra effort on their part.

MRS. J. FORBES

DEAR HELOISE: By keeping potatoes in the refrigerator it eliminates the growth of "eyes" and they stay fresh much longer.

I also keep a little of my bacon grease to rub on my baked potatoes and wrap them tightly in aluminum foil before baking. This keeps the potato and skin moist and adds a little flavor.

JUDITH MORAN.

-:-

DEAR JUDITH: Thanks. . . I tried this for six months. Keeping potatoes in the refrigerator does eliminate the "eyes." Also keeps them from becoming pithy. The bacon grease on the outside skin before baking is fabulous.

HELOISE.

Cleanup Set At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — The annual spring cleanup will be held Monday through Wednesday with village crews hauling trash from the curbs, Mayor Stanley Fitch announced today.

Residents are requested to place trash in containers along the curbs. Metal containers or burlap sacks are preferred because cardboard boxes collapse in rain, the mayor said.

Brush will be collected if bundled, but no trees will be hauled. No garbage will be collected, he added.

The schedule for hauling is:

Monday — West End to the Christian Church, including Jefferson and Water Sts.; Tuesday—from the Christian Church to the Salineville Motor Co., including side streets and Schoolhouse Hill; Wednesday — East End, Station Hill, Foundry Hill and Twiss Addition.

Mayor Fitch said residents have been dumping trash along Water St. and Route 39, and warned such practice is illegal.

The mayor also reported stray dogs have been damaging gardens and lawns, and police have been notified to cite owners of pets found running loose.

Church Unit Adopts Civil Rights Program

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Northeast Ohio Acting Association of the United Church of Christ has adopted a sweeping Civil Rights program.

It urges support of fair housing legislation now before a state legislative committee; support of the Birmingham, Ala., Negroes; a promise to work for laws to provide aid to children of the unemployed, and a reaffirmation of the church's position that every local congregation and church-related institution accept new members without discrimination due to race.

Cloud Declines To Comment On League Petition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—House Speaker Roger Cloud, R - Logan, has declined comment on what effect a 500-foot petition bearing 15,000 signatures might have on the proposed subdistricting of Cuyahoga County.

Cloud received the big bundle of names Wednesday from nine members of the Ohio League of Women Voters who said they collected them in only a few days.

The petitions favor subdistricting the county for legislative elections giving each district authority to elect one member to the Ohio House.

This, the petitioners say, would avoid so-called bedsheet ballots that result from metropolitan counties electing representatives on a county-wide basis.

The proposal before the legislature has drawn strong opposition from Democrats who claim it must include all counties that elect more than one representative, not just Cuyahoga alone.

Democrats also assert that the move represents a Republican attempt to pick up more seats in the greater Cleveland area, a traditional Democratic stronghold.

How Ohioans In House Voted On Debt Limit

Democrats for: Ashley, Feighan, Hays, Kirwan, Vanik.

Democrats against: Secrest.

Republicans for: None.

Republicans against: Abele, Ashbrook, Ayres, Betts, F. Bolton, O. Bolton, Bow, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, Latta, McCulloch, Minshall, Mosher, Rich.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Deal Heloise: I am a deaf mute. I am the mother of three children.

Before I remove my laundry from the clothes lines . . . I give my three children a squirt bottle (the type that has a push button on top) and let them fill it with hot water and then go to the clothes line and squirt and spray all my clothes before removing them from the line. The children love it!

As soon as this is done my children remove the clothes and roll them up into balls, and put them into plastic bags I can leave them overnight. The children have pleased me, and they also felt satisfaction out of helping their mother.

I thought this might help "hearing" mothers also. It is great fun. . . whether you can hear or not, just to see your children come home from school and pick up those bottles and spray the clothes on your line and have them sprinkle your clothes.

And may God Bless you always, Heloise. I come from a completely deaf family. I do hope you understand as will some of my other coffee friends.

ROSE R.

My grandparents were totally deaf. I talk the sign language. So, I understand. I think you are doing wonderfully with your children.

Wish I was in your kitchen having a cup of coffee. Couldn't we have fun? We all love you!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My husband works on different shifts.

Since my husband eats at one time and we eat another I solved the problem of preparing two different evening meals by saving my foil TV dinner plates from previous purchases.

I prepare dinner for my husband at the appropriate hour. With what is left I simply make up six TV dinner plates for me and the children with whatever I have prepared for him.

Now here's the catch:

Since we eat the dinners the same evening there is no need to freeze these!

We cover the TV plate with foil and place it in the refrigerator until ready to eat.

When he is on the other shift I do it visa versa. When husband comes home, place the dinner in the oven and set it at 400 for 15 or 20 minutes.

I dot my potatoes with butter instead of using gravy and put the extra gravy on the meat. This also is an excellent idea for mothers who must leave children with a baby sitter.

Dinners may be prepared in advance for the sitter and children with no extra effort on their part.

MRS. J. FORBES

DEAR HELOISE: By keeping potatoes in the refrigerator it eliminates the growth of "eyes" and they stay fresh much longer.

I also keep a little of my bacon grease to rub on my baked potatoes and wrap them tightly in aluminum foil before baking. This keeps the potato and skin moist and adds a little flavor.

JUDITH MORAN.

-:-

DEAR JUDITH: Thanks. . . I tried this for six months. Keeping potatoes in the refrigerator does eliminate the "eyes." Also keeps them from becoming pithy. The bacon grease on the outside skin before baking is fabulous.

HELOISE.

Small lettuce cups (inner leaves) holding tartar sauce make a pleasant and delicious garnish for fried or broiled fish.

Cleanup Set At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — The annual spring cleanup will be held Monday through Wednesday with village crews hauling trash from the curbs, Mayor Stanley Fitch announced today.

Residents are requested to place trash in containers along the curbs. Metal containers or burlap sacks are preferred because cardboard boxes collapse in rain, the mayor said.

Brush will be collected if bundled, but no trees will be hauled. No garbage will be collected, he added.

The schedule for hauling is:

Monday — West End to the Christian Church, including Jefferson and Water Sts.; Tuesday—from the Christian Church to the Salineville Motor Co., including side streets and Schoolhouse Hill; Wednesday — East End, Station Hill, Foundry Hill and Twiss Addition.

Mayor Fitch said residents have been dumping trash along Water St. and Route 39, and warned such practice is illegal.

The mayor also reported stray dogs have been damaging gardens and lawns, and police have been notified to cite owners of pets found running loose.

Church Unit Adopts Civil Rights Program

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Northeast Ohio Acting Association of the United Church of Christ has adopted a sweeping Civil Rights program.

It urges support of fair housing legislation now before a state legislative committee; support of the Birmingham, Ala., Negroes; a promise to work for laws to provide aid to children of the unemployed, and a reaffirmation of the church's position that every local congregation and church-related institution accept new members without discrimination due to race.

Cloud Declines To Comment On League Petition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—House Speaker Roger Cloud, R - Logan, has declined comment on what effect a 500-foot petition bearing 15,000 signatures might have on the proposed subdistricting of Cuyahoga County.

Cloud received the big bundle of names Wednesday from nine members of the Ohio League of Women Voters who said they collected them in only a few days.

The petitions favor subdistricting the county for legislative elections giving each district authority to elect one member to the Ohio House.

This, the petitioners say, would avoid so-called bedsheet ballots that result from metropolitan counties electing representatives on a county-wide basis.

The proposal before the legislature has drawn strong opposition from Democrats who claim it must include all counties that elect more than one representative, not just Cuyahoga alone.

Democrats also assert that the move represents a Republican attempt to pick up more seats in the greater Cleveland area, a traditional Democratic stronghold.

Democrats against: Secrest.

Republicans for: None.

Republicans against: Abele, Ashbrook, Ayres, Betts, F. Bolton, O. Bolton, Bow, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, Latta, McCulloch, Minshall, Mosher, Rich.

Repairs Set On Crossing

Work on repairs to the 18th St. crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Wellsville is slated to begin Monday.

Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare said arrangements have been completed with the railroad.

The entire crossing area will be ripped out and replaced. A temporary crossing will be installed to facilitate traffic.

The project will take about three weeks, the director was informed.

Baldasare said the railroad wanted to install a temporary crossing at 13th St. but he said he objected because he does not feel it would be safe.

The railroad finally agreed to install the temporary crossing west of the present crossing.

Arrangements for the work were made with D. A. Shoff, supervisor of track at Conway.

Wellsville had asked that the work be done last fall, but bad weather set in before the railroad crew could get to the job.

Some of the material was moved to the site at that time.

The railroad then informed Baldasare in March that the work was slated for "early this work season."

Grant's Two-Hitter Stops Athletics 1-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim (Mudcat) Grant has been alternately hot and cold since he was hit on the arm by a line drive last month, but when he's hot, man, he really stops 'em.

The Cleveland righthander hurled a two-hitter Wednesday night as he stopped the Rampaging Kansas City Athletics cold, 1-0.

Mudcat, in his sixth season with the Indians, called it one of the best performances he ever turned in.

"I'd say I only threw four or five bad pitches, and for me that's real good," he told reporters in the dressing room.

It was Jim's second shutout.

Grant (3-3) gave up a double to Wayne Causey in the third inning, then proceeded to set down 13 consecutive batters. The second hit, a single, came in the eighth inning.

JIM GRANT
In Top Performance.

The happy Mudcat said of the game: "That one was for little Jimmy." Little Jimmy is Grant's week-old son, who comes home from the hospital today.

Orlando Pena did a fine job pitching for the Athletics. He gave up only four hits in the seven innings he worked.

The Indians got their run in the first inning on singles by Vic Davalillo, Al Luplow and Tito Francona. Pena settled down then and blanked the Indians until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The league - leading Chicago White Sox dropped into town for a single game tonight. Cleveland's Dick Donovan will face John Buzhardt of the White Sox.

Stuart Hits 2 Homers In Sweep

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a tough day for the Los Angeles Angels. First they were routed out of their hotel by a fire, then routed out of Fenway Park by a fiery first baseman.

Dick Stuart, who says he's worried about his hitting, drove in seven runs on two homers—one a grand slam—and led Boston to a doubleheader sweep of the Angels, 9-3 and 7-6 Wednesday night.

Stuart's heroics propelled the surprising Red Sox into second place in the American League, one game back of the Chicago White Sox, who scored a 7-4 victory over Detroit.

Mudcat Grant blanked Kansas City 1-0 on a two-hitter for Cleveland and Baltimore whipped Washington 7-1 on Milt Pappas' three-hitter in other night games, while the New York Yankees edged Minnesota 4-3 in the only day game.

Grant allowed only a double by Wayne Causey and a single by Chuck Essegian and retired 13 men in a row over one stretch is his outstanding effort against Kansas City. Tito Francona drove in both Indian runs with a first inning single.

Pappas, 3-0 for the season, retired 18 Senators in order at one stretch in his three-hitter. He lost his shutout when Ken Retzer hit an eighth inning homer. Jim Gentile, Jackie Brandt and Jerry Adair had homers for the Orioles.

Ron Hansen keyed a five-run fifth inning for the White Sox with a bases-loaded single and Dave Nicholson stroked a two-run homer in the victory over Detroit. Juan Pizarro won his third without loss, but needed help from Jim Brosnan in the eighth.

Elston Howard's eighth inning single drove in the tie-breaking run for the Yankees, who handed the stumbling Twins their 11th loss in their last 14 games. Mickey Mantle had a two-run homer in the sixth for the Yanks.

Braves' Hendley Misses No-Hitter By Two Outs

Pittsburgh Gives Tilt To Giants

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's Bob Hendley made like Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Koufax didn't.

While Koufax was making his first appearance since pitching a no-hitter against San Francisco, Hendley stole the spotlight by hurling the Braves to a 9-3 triumph over St. Louis Wednesday night and coming within two outs of matching the Koufax 4-day-old masterpiece.

Hendley got Julian Javier on a grounder to open the ninth, but pinch - hitter George Altman reached first when Frank Bolling booted his grounder.

That seemed to unsettle Hendley, who was then tagged for a triple to right center by Curt Flood for the first St. Louis hit.

Before Hendley regained his composure, the Cardinals had two more hits and three runs. But nothing could dim the performance of the 24-year-old left-hander, who pitched probably the finest game in his three seasons in the majors.

Koufax was touched for 11 hits, but struck out 12 and won his fourth in a row when Ron Fairly drove in the decisive run with a two-out single in the 12th inning and gave the Dodgers a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia.

In other National League action, first-place San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 4-3, Cincinnati belted Chicago's Cubs 10-2 and the New York Mets downed Houston 10-2 and the New York Mets downed Houston 7-4, ending the Colts winning streak at six.

The Giants broke a scoreless tie against loser Don Cardwell in the fifth after Orlando Cepeda led off with the inning's only hit, a pop fly that dropped in short center. Cardwell, now 1-5, walked winning pitcher Juan Marichal to force in one run and hit Felipe Alou to force in another before Bob Bailey bobbled Willie Mays' grounder and let in two more runs. Marichal brought his record to 5-3 with Bob Bolin's relief help.

Frank Robinson led the Reds, collecting a single, double and triple, driving in three runs and stealing a base. Jim Maloney, 5-1, was the winner, Glen Hobbie, 1-4 the loser.

Al Jackson sparked two rallies with singles and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly as he won his fourth against three losses for the Mets. Jackson scattered six hits and had allowed only an unearned run when John Bateman brought the Colts close in the ninth with a three-run homer.

Big Daddy's Burial Held In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, a 290-pound goliath of the National Football League gridiron who amused crowds with his antics for a decade, was buried Wednesday in a ceremony almost as colorful as his career.

The coffin of the 6-foot-6 defensive tackle of the Pittsburgh Steelers was borne down an aisle made of 20 women holding floral tributes by fellow Negro professional football players. Only hours before in Baltimore, a medical examiner officially ruled his death the result of an overdose of heroin.

Lipscomb, who played for years with the Baltimore Colts, died early last Friday. His unconscious form was found slumped over a table in the apartment of a friend, who told police the two capped a night of wining and dining by "shooting" heroin.

Dayton Cage Star To Enter Cincy U.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ken Calloway, a top Ohio schoolboy basketball player for Dayton Chaminade, has indicated he wants to enter the University of Cincinnati.

School officials said Wednesday the 6-foot-6 standout had signed a letter of intent to enter next fall.

Wellsville Cage Program Realizes Profit Of $1,836

Wellsville High's basketball program continued in the black during the 1962-63 season, with the school realizing a profit of $1,836.60 to help defray the cost of the football program.

Total receipts for basketball were $4,643.42, and expenditures were $2,806.82, according to the financial report prepared by Don Lowe, faculty manager.

The game with East Liverpool provided the largest gate receipts —$769.30. Receipts for other "big games" included $525.60 for Steubenville Big Red, $400 for Beaver Local, $493 for Toronto, and $306 for Chester. Seaon ticket sales amounted to $241.35.

In expenditures, officials cost $540, equipment, $653, and printing, $239.50.

The athletic department's receipts for the year included $7,889.91 in football; $4,643.42 in basketball; $1,539.70 in insurance, and a Sept. 1 balance of $263.70.

Expenditures were $8,953.21 in football; $2,806.82 in basketball; $1,461.70 in insurance, and $245.38 in track. The bank balance as of May 6 was $879.62.

Lowe reported the date of the basketball game with Midland has been changed from Jan. 4 to Dec. 13 at Wellsville because the Leopards were required to line up a game with a Section 8 foe.

Ever Hear Fanning 32 Batters In 1 Game?

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP) — More than 10 strikeouts in a game? Sandy Koufax seems to do it all the time.

More than 20? Tom Chaney of Washington struck out 21 last season in 16 innings against Baltimore.

But more than 30? No one around here had ever heard of it until Ken Widman did it, with two to spare.

The handsome, blond pitcher of the Long Island Aggies stuck out 32 men in 18 innings in a 2-0 game in the recent district finals of the National Junior College tournament. He also had a no-hitter for 9 2-3 innings.

The performance perked up interest in the 19-year-old righthander among pro baseball scouts, and they came to the right place. Young Widman has wanted to be a pro ball player all his life, and he is more interested in that right now than even, well, girls.

"There's time for them later," he said.

On My Honor Is Almost Overlooked At Pimlico

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—The "Big Three" from the Kentucky Derby are on everybody's list before Saturday's Preakness at Pimlico. What about the fourth finisher at Louisville?

On My Honor is mentioned, if at all, only as an afterthought. He was the one behind Chateaugay, Never Bend and Candy Spots.

Which is not a knock, exactly, but the attitude would lead you to believe On My Honor hasn't a ghost of a chance to win the $150,000-added race.

It may well be that he is over his head, but Chateaugay was only fifth choice in a field of nine when he won the Derby May 4. On My Honor swept past No Robbery, the second betting choice, and Bonjour, fourth in the odds, on his way to a share of the purse.

After the invincibility of Candy Spots and No Robbery was shattered in the Derby, interest in the 3-year-old racing class turned to whether Chateaugay can be tripped in either the Preakness or the Belmont Stakes next month. On My Honor might not turn the trick in the Preakness, but a small clan already is looking ahead for him in the Belmont.

The 1 3-16-mile Preakness could be too short for On My Honor's late rally as was the 1¼-mile Derby. However, the 1½-mile Belmont might be right down his alley.

On My Honor was last and more than 16 lengths behind the front running Never Bend after the first three quarters of a mile in the Derby. He trailed by only six lengths at the finish.

Grant's Two-Hitter Stops Athletics 1-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim (Mudcat) Grant has been alternately hot and cold since he was hit on the arm by a line drive last month, but when he's hot, man, he really stops 'em.

The Cleveland righthander hurled a two-hitter Wednesday night as he stopped the Rampaging Kansas City Athletics cold, 1-0.

Mudcat, in his sixth season with the Indians, called it one of the best performances he ever turned in.

"I'd say I only threw four or five bad pitches, and for me that's real good," he told reporters in the dressing room.

It was Jim's second shutout.

Grant (3-3) gave up a double to Wayne Causey in the third inning, then proceeded to set down 13 consecutive batters. The second hit, a single, came in the eighth inning.

★ ★ ★

The happy Mudcat said of the game: "That one was for little Jimmy." Little Jimmy is Grant's week-old son, who comes home from the hospital today.

Orlando Pena did a fine job pitching for the Athletics. He gave up only four hits in the seven innings he worked.

The Indians got their run in the first inning on singles by Vic Davalillo, Al Luplow and Tito Francona. Pena settled down then and blanked the Indians until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The league - leading Chicago White Sox dropped into town for a single game tonight. Cleveland's Dick Donovan will face John Buzhardt of the White Sox.

Freedom Winner Of Midland Meet

Freedom High piled up 47½ points and captured the 11th annual Midland Invitational Track and Field Meet at Midland Stadium Wednesday night. The American Legion Post 481 again sponsored the meet.

The meet was close all the way and Freedom's over-all balance proved to be the deciding factor. Rochester was second with 33½ points, followed closely by Riverside, with 32½; Hopewell, 31½; the defending champs Beaver, 26½; host Midland, 21½; New Brighton nine and Northwestern eight.

Two new Midland Stadium records were established, one in the 120-yd. high hurdles and the other in the 440-yd. dash. Denny Vinroe of Riverside set the new high hurdle mark with a time of 15.45 and Art Brown of Beaver established the new 440 record of 51.25.

Mike Krivoshia once again led Larry Novak's Leopard cindermen. The big junior piled up 11½ points, finishing first in the shot put with a heave of 45 ft., 1 in., second in the broad jump and tied for third in the 220.

George Stoffel and Rod Alston accounted for the remaining ten Midland markers. Stoffel streaked home to victory in the 880 - yd. dash in 2:07.6. Alston won the high jump with a leap of 5 ft., 6 in.

The 880-relay team of Reed, Dale Mobley, Mark Leyda and Dan Corbisello was first with a time of 1:39.5.

Wellsville finished second with 53 points in the five-team meet which was won by Toronto. The Red Knights scored 81 points. Jefferson Union was third, Beaver Local finished fourth and Springfield fifth.

Roger Diddle, a junior, put up a new school-standard in the 100-yard dash when he came home first in the event with a 10.3 clocking.

Warren Bradley, was second in the 120-yard high hurdles, but lowered his time in that event with a reading of 15.9.

Big Daddy's Burial Held In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, a 290-pound goliath of the National Football League gridiron who amused crowds with his antics for a decade, was buried Wednesday in a ceremony almost as colorful as his career.

The coffin of the 6-foot-6 defensive tackle of the Pittsburgh Steelers was borne down an aisle made of 20 women holding floral tributes by fellow Negro professional football players. Only hours before in Baltimore, a medical examiner officially ruled his death the result of an overdose of heroin.

Lipscomb, who played for years with the Baltimore Colts, died early last Friday. His unconscious form was found slumped over a table in the apartment of a friend, who told police the two capped a night of wining and dining by "shooting" heroin.

Dayton Cage Star To Enter Cincy U.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ken Calloway, a top Ohio schoolboy basketball player for Dayton Chaminade, has indicated he wants to enter the University of Cincinnati.

School officials said Wednesday the 6-foot-6 standout had signed a letter of intent to enter next fall.

Wellsville Cage Program Realizes Profit Of $1,836

Wellsville High's basketball program continued in the black during the 1962-63 season, with the school realizing a profit of $1,836.60 to help defray the cost of the football program.

Total receipts for basketball were $4,643.42, and expenditures were $2,806.82, according to the financial report prepared by Don Lowe, faculty manager.

The game with East Liverpool provided the largest gate receipts —$769.30. Receipts for other "big games" included $525.60 for Steubenville Big Red, $400 for Beaver Local, $493 for Toronto, and $306 for Chester. Seaon ticket sales amounted to $241.35.

In expenditures, officials cost $540, equipment, $653, and printing, $239.50.

The athletic department's receipts for the year included $7,889.91 in football; $4,643.42 in basketball; $1,539.70 in insurance, and a Sept. 1 balance of $263.70.

Expenditures were $8,953.21 in football; $2,806.82 in basketball; $1,461.70 in insurance, and $245.38 in track. The bank balance as of May 6 was $879.62.

Lowe reported the date of the basketball game with Midland has been changed from Jan. 4 to Dec. 13 at Wellsville because the Leopards were required to line up a game with a Section 8 foe.

Ever Hear Fanning 32 Batters In 1 Game?

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP) — More than 10 strikeouts in a game? Sandy Koufax seems to do it all the time.

More than 20? Tom Chaney of Washington struck out 21 last season in 16 innings against Baltimore.

But more than 30? No one around here had ever heard of it until Ken Widman did it, with two to spare.

The handsome, blond pitcher of the Long Island Aggies stuck out 32 men in 18 innings in a 2-0 game in the recent district finals of the National Junior College tournament. He also had a no-hitter for 9 2-3 innings.

The performance perked up interest in the 19-year-old righthander among pro baseball scouts, and they came to the right place. Young Widman has wanted to be a pro ball player all his life, and he is more interested in that right now than even, well, girls.

"There's time for them later," he said.

On My Honor Is Almost Overlooked At Pimlico

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—The "Big Three" from the Kentucky Derby are on everybody's list before Saturday's Preakness at Pimlico. What about the fourth finisher at Louisville?

On My Honor is mentioned, if at all, only as an afterthought. He was the one behind Chateaugay, Never Bend and Candy Spots.

Which is not a knock, exactly, but the attitude would lead you to believe On My Honor hasn't a ghost of a chance to win the $150,000-added race.

It may well be that he is over his head, but Chateaugay was only fifth choice in a field of nine when he won the Derby May 4. On My Honor swept past No Robbery, the second betting choice, and Bonjour, fourth in the odds, on his way to a share of the purse.

After the invincibility of Candy Spots and No Robbery was shattered in the Derby, interest in the 3-year-old racing class turned to whether Chateaugay can be tripped in either the Preakness or the Belmont Stakes next month. On My Honor might not turn the trick in the Preakness, but a small clan already is looking ahead for him in the Belmont.

The 1 3-16-mile Preakness could be too short for On My Honor's late rally as was the 1¼-mile Derby. However, the 1½-mile Belmont might be right down his alley.

On My Honor was last and more than 16 lengths behind the front running Never Bend after the first three quarters of a mile in the Derby. He trailed by only six lengths at the finish.

Battle For Pole Position In 500 To Begin Saturday

INDIANAPOLIS — Railbirds at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway are predicting the greatest speed battle of all time Saturday, when the pole position will be determined for the 47th annual 500-Mile Race on May 30.

In contrast to last year, when seven drivers qualified at better than 148 miles an hour, 15 already have exceeded that speed on early practice laps; and that number probably will continue to grow this week.

Interest is particularly high this year because the supremacy of the Offenhauser - powered cars appears to be seriously threatened for the first time since the early 1950s. Duke Nalon won the No. 1 starting spot with a Novi in 1951 and Fred Agabashian captured similar honors the following May with the Cummins Diesel Special; but the "Offies" have been on the pole for the last 10 years in a row.

Parnelli Jones, who set the present one-lap and four-lap qualification records of 150.729 and 150.370 miles an hour, respectively, will be seeking the pole position for the second straight season in an Offenhauser - powered car. Eddie Sachs and Dick Rathmann, other former pole winners, also are among the contenders again in addition to such "Chargers" as Rodger Ward, Bobby Marshman, Len Sutton, A. J. Foyt and Jim McElreath.

The principal challenge to this group on Saturday is expected to come from Jim Hurtubise — former track record holder — and the rear - engine contingent headed by Dan Gurney and Jimmy Clark. Hurtubise will be in the cockpit of the Novi Tropicana Special and his supercharged V-8 car has performed exceptionally well in early tests.

Gurney and Clark will drive the lightweight Lotus - Ford cars built in England by Colin Chapman. Additional international flavor this year is offered by Graham Hill of England, Masten Gregory of France, Pedro Rodriquez of Mexico and Ed Kostenuk of Canada.

In anticipation of a tremendous crowd, the gates to the grounds Saturday will be opened at 7 a.m., with practice starting at 9 a. m. and official time trials getting under way at 11 a. m. Sunday's schedule calls for the gates to be opened at 9 a. m. with trials starting at noon. The fastest 33 qualifiers will form the starting lineup behind the Chrysler pace car on May 30.

Syracuse Of NBA Sold, May Be Moved To Philly

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Subject to league approval, the Syracuse Nationals of the National Basketball Association have been sold to a group of Philadelphia businessmen who plan to move the club to Philadelphia.

Sale of the club for $500,000 was announced late Wednesday night by owner Dan Biasone, who said "it simply got to be impossible to operate." The Nats had been fixtures in Syracuse for 17 years but despite their 48-32 record and second place finish in the Eastern Division last season, the club lost $39,000.

Although the Philadelphia group was not identified at its request, Biasone said the sale was handled by the Philadelphia law firm of Richman, Price and Jamieson.

In Philadelphia, Isaac Richman of the firm said the new owners are a group of businessmen not connected before with sports. He said Eddie Gottlieb, former owner of the Philadelphia Warriors, is not a member of the group. He refused to identify the businessmen and when asked if he thought the league would approve of them, said: "These men are reputable."

Philadelphia has been without an NBA franchise since the Warriors were sold and moved to San Francisco before last season.

Flood's Triple Breaks Up Hendley's No-Hit Contest

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's Bob Hendley was within two outs of realizing a pitcher's dream of a no-hitter. Then, according to the young southpaw, "You might say the Flood came."

The 24-year-old Hendley dazzled the St. Louis Cardinals for 8 1-3 innings Wednesday night, but had to settle for a 9-3 victory after Curt Flood broke up a no-hit bid with a triple to right center.

"I knew I had a no-hitter going and wanted it badly," Hendley said. "I was concentrating so hard from the fifth inning on that I think I was in sort of a trance when I went out for the ninth. Then the roof caved in, but that's the way the ball bounces."

The soft-spoken Georgian started the ninth by getting Julian Javier on a grounder to short. Pinch hitter George Altman reached first as second baseman Frank Bolling bobbled a soft grounder at the edge of the infield grass. Then Flood, a right-handed hitter who had grounded to the left side of the infield on three previous times at bat, strode to the plate.

Flood ran the count to two strikes and one ball before he lined a high pitch to right center. With one swish of the bat, he had spoiled a no-hit bid and a shutout to boot.

"He hit a fast ball about letter high on the inside," Hendley said. "I don't see how he hit the ball in that direction. It was a good pitch."

Jets' Lines Walks 1st In 35 Innings

By The Associated Press

When you start talking about those wild left-handed pitchers, please don't include Dick Lines of the International League's Columbus Jets. He pitches as if he invented control.

When Lines walked Steve Bilko, the hulking Rochester first baseman, in the third inning of Wednesday night's 4-1 Jet victory, it was the first pass he had issued in 35 innings this season.

Lines didn't give anything away, and his equally frugal mates made the most of their three hits. Homers by Gary Rushing, Orlando McFarlane and Manny Mota accounted for all of the Jet runs off Rochester right-hander John Miller. The lone Red Wing run off Lines was unearned, the result of an error, a wild pitch and Bilko's double.

Atlanta shaded Jacksonville 3-2, Toronto tripped Buffalo 4-1 and Syracuse defeated Indianapolis 5-2. Arkansas and Richmond were idle.

Battle For Pole Position In 500 To Begin Saturday

INDIANAPOLIS — Railbirds at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway are predicting the greatest speed battle of all time Saturday, when the pole position will be determined for the 47th annual 500-Mile Race on May 30.

In contrast to last year, when seven drivers qualified at better than 148 miles an hour, 15 already have exceeded that speed on early practice laps; and that number probably will continue to grow this week.

Interest is particularly high this year because the supremacy of the Offenhauser - powered cars appears to be seriously threatened for the first time since the early 1950s. Duke Nalon won the No. 1 starting spot with a Novi in 1951 and Fred Agabashian captured similar honors the following May with the Cummins Diesel Special; but the "Offies" have been on the pole for the last 10 years in a row.

Parnelli Jones, who set the present one-lap and four-lap qualification records of 150.729 and 150.370 miles an hour, respectively, will be seeking the pole position for the second straight season in an Offenhauser - powered car. Eddie Sachs and Dick Rathmann, other former pole winners, also are among the contenders again in addition to such "Chargers" as Rodger Ward, Bobby Marshman, Len Sutton, A. J. Foyt and Jim McElreath.

The principal challenge to this group on Saturday is expected to come from Jim Hurtubise — former track record holder — and the rear - engine contingent headed by Dan Gurney and Jimmy Clark. Hurtubise will be in the cockpit of the Novi Tropicana Special and his supercharged V-8 car has performed exceptionally well in early tests.

Gurney and Clark will drive the lightweight Lotus - Ford cars built in England by Colin Chapman. Additional international flavor this year is offered by Graham Hill of England, Masten Gregory of France, Pedro Rodriquez of Mexico and Ed Kostenuk of Canada.

In anticipation of a tremendous crowd, the gates to the grounds Saturday will be opened at 7 a.m., with practice starting at 9 a. m. and official time trials getting under way at 11 a. m. Sunday's schedule calls for the gates to be opened at 9 a. m. with trials starting at noon. The fastest 33 qualifiers will form the starting lineup behind the Chrysler pace car on May 30.

Syracuse Of NBA Sold, May Be Moved To Philly

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Subject to league approval, the Syracuse Nationals of the National Basketball Association have been sold to a group of Philadelphia businessmen who plan to move the club to Philadelphia.

Sale of the club for $500,000 was announced late Wednesday night by owner Dan Biasone, who said "it simply got to be impossible to operate." The Nats had been fixtures in Syracuse for 17 years but despite their 48-32 record and second place finish in the Eastern Division last season, the club lost $39,000.

Although the Philadelphia group was not identified at its request, Biasone said the sale was handled by the Philadelphia law firm of Richman, Price and Jamieson.

In Philadelphia, Isaac Richman of the firm said the new owners are a group of businessmen not connected before with sports. He said Eddie Gottlieb, former owner of the Philadelphia Warriors, is not a member of the group. He refused to identify the businessmen and when asked if he thought the league would approve of them, said: "These men are reputable."

Philadelphia has been without an NBA franchise since the Warriors were sold and moved to San Francisco before last season.

Jets' Lines Walks 1st In 35 Innings

By The Associated Press

When you start talking about those wild left-handed pitchers, please don't include Dick Lines of the International League's Columbus Jets. He pitches as if he invented control.

When Lines walked Steve Bilko, the hulking Rochester first baseman, in the third inning of Wednesday night's 4-1 Jet victory, it was the first pass he had issued in 35 innings this season.

Lines didn't give anything away, and his equally frugal mates made the most of their three hits. Homers by Gary Rushing, Orlando McFarlane and Manny Mota accounted for all of the Jet runs off Rochester right-hander John Miller. The lone Red Wing run off Lines was unearned, the result of an error, a wild pitch and Bilko's double.

Atlanta shaded Jacksonville 3-2, Toronto tripped Buffalo 4-1 and Syracuse defeated Indianapolis 5-2. Arkansas and Richmond were idle.

Flood's Triple Breaks Up Hendley's No-Hit Contest

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's Bob Hendley was within two outs of realizing a pitcher's dream of a no-hitter. Then, according to the young southpaw, "You might say the Flood came."

The 24-year-old Hendley dazzled the St. Louis Cardinals for 8 1-3 innings Wednesday night, but had to settle for a 9-3 victory after Curt Flood broke up a no-hit bid with a triple to right center.

"I knew I had a no-hitter going and wanted it badly," Hendley said. "I was concentrating so hard from the fifth inning on that I think I was in sort of a trance when I went out for the ninth. Then the roof caved in, but that's the way the ball bounces."

The soft-spoken Georgian started the ninth by getting Julian Javier on a grounder to short. Pinch hitter George Altman reached first as second baseman Frank Bolling bobbled a soft grounder at the edge of the infield grass. Then Flood, a right-handed hitter who had grounded to the left side of the infield on three previous times at bat, strode to the plate.

Flood ran the count to two strikes and one ball before he lined a high pitch to right center. With one swish of the bat, he had spoiled a no-hit bid and a shutout to boot.

"He hit a fast ball about letter high on the inside," Hendley said. "I don't see how he hit the ball in that direction. It was a good pitch."

Legislature Unit May Carve New Congressional District

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A three-member subcommittee will consider the possibility of carving a new 24th congressional district out of Ohio's 88 counties.

Rep. Charles Kurfess, R-Wood, chairman of the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee, appointed himself chairman of the subcommittee with Rep. Stanley Aranoff, R-Hamilton, and Rep. Bishop Kilpatrick, D-Trumbull, as other members.

Ohio now has 23 district congressmen and one congressman-at-large because the Republican-dominated 1961 legislature failed to set up a 24th congressional district to provide a seat for the 24th congressman to which Ohio became entitled two years ago because of a population increase.

Ohio, as a result, elected a congressman - at - large, Republican Rep. Robert Taft Jr., Cincinnati, son of the late "Mr. Republican." His term is up next year.

The proposals to be considered by the subcommittee—often the graveyard of controversial proposals — are brain children of Reps. Walter Powell, R - Butler, and Margaret Dennison, R-Trumbull.

Their combined proposals would break up Ohio's largest congressional district—the 3rd, now made up of Montgomery County (Dayton) and Butler County (Hamilton-Middletown) — by making Montgomery County a separate district and making a new district of Butler, Warren and Clermont counties.

Mrs. Dennison's proposal, should it be incorporated in the overall redistricting measure, would simply remove the five southern townships of Trumbull County (Warren) from the 19th to the 11th Congressional District. In turn, all of Portage County could be joined with Mahoning County to form a new 19th District.

Crews To Close Trash Campaign

The incinerator department is scheduled to wind up collections Friday in the annual citywide spring cleanup, which was launched May 6.

Supt. John Melvin said his crew will cover these streets:

Morton St., Avondale St., Cadmus St., Sophia St., Daisy Alley, McKinnon Ave., Oak St., Riverview St., Perry Ave., North St., Pope Ave., Montgomery Ave. and Jennings Ave.

The campaign spanned two weeks, with trucks following their regular trash collection routes. The department will return to regular trash schedules next week.

Newark Man Heads Ohio Trucking Assn.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Howard E. LeFevre of Newark is the new president of the Ohio Trucking Association.

Also named Wednesday at the group's 45th annual convention was L. Eugene Duff of Lima, first vice president; Ron Sibila of Massillon, secretary, and Charles Dumford, Middletown, treasurer. The outgoing president is J. Otis Ford of Ironton.

Legislature Unit May Carve New Congressional District

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A three-member subcommittee will consider the possibility of carving a new 24th congressional district out of Ohio's 88 counties.

Rep. Charles Kurfess, R-Wood, chairman of the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee, appointed himself chairman of the subcommittee with Rep. Stanley Aronoff, R-Hamilton, and Rep. Bishop Kilpatrick, D-Trumbull, as other members.

Ohio now has 23 district congressmen and one congressman-at-large because the Republican-dominated 1961 legislature failed to set up a 24th congressional district to provide a seat for the 24th congressman to which Ohio became entitled two years ago because of a population increase.

Ohio, as a result, elected a congressman - at - large, Republican Rep. Robert Taft Jr., Cincinnati, son of the late "Mr. Republican." His term is up next year.

The proposals to be considered by the subcommittee—often the graveyard of controversial proposals — are brain children of Reps. Walter Powell, R - Butler, and Margaret Dennison, R-Trumbull.

Their combined proposals would break up Ohio's largest congressional district—the 3rd, now made up of Montgomery County (Dayton) and Butler County (Hamilton-Middletown) — by making Montgomery County a separate district and making a new district of Butler, Warren and Clermont counties.

Mrs. Dennison's proposal, should it be incorporated in the overall redistricting measure, would simply remove the five southern townships of Trumbull County (Warren) from the 19th to the 11th Congressional District. In turn, all of Portage County could be joined with Mahoning County to form a new 19th District.

Crews To Close Trash Campaign

The incinerator department is scheduled to wind up collections Friday in the annual citywide spring cleanup, which was launched May 6.

Supt. John Melvin said his crew will cover these streets:

Morton St., Avondale St., Cadmus St., Sophia St., Daisy Alley, McKinnon Ave., Oak St., Riverview St., Perry Ave., North St., Pope Ave., Montgomery Ave. and Jennings Ave.

The campaign spanned two weeks, with trucks following their regular trash collection routes. The department will return to regular trash schedules next week.

Newark Man Heads Ohio Trucking Assn.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Howard E. LeFevre of Newark is the new president of the Ohio Trucking Association.

Also named Wednesday at the group's 45th annual convention was L. Eugene Duff of Lima, first vice president; Ron Sibila of Massillon, secretary, and Charles Dumford, Middletown, treasurer. The outgoing president is J. Otis Ford of Ironton.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Proper Dieting Ends Overeating!

Eighty - five per cent of people who lose weight on crash diets gain it back in six months. All that dieting for naught!

Ida Jean Kain

By reducing on a protective diet plan you have a better chance of staying slim. The way is to establish the right food pattern while you are reducing, for this gives you a healthy hold on the eating habits that enable you to maintain normal weight.

What is your attitude toward staying with a protective slimming pattern? Are you reluctant to keep serving sizes moderate? Do you resent the fact that in order to control your weight you must forego second helpings?

You know now that overeating is just a bad habit, and that habit has only as strong a hold on you as you have on it. In other words, you need not be stuck with a habit provided you choose not to be.

TO GET unexpected rewards, think in terms of what you want. The mind, being a goal seeking machine, follows the directions of your sincere desires.

Turn this over in your mind. "I rather like the idea of not overeating at any one meal. It makes sense to allocate calories to provide energy at an even rate during the day instead of gorging at the evening meal. I find that 20 to 30 minutes after the meal is over, I've forgotten all about food."

There it is, if you don't feed the desire to overeat, it will wane. You will find to your pleased astonishment that you actually like not overeating! Many people, in fact, most normal weight individuals, are in the enviable position of not craving or even wanting to continue eating until they feel too full. Their eating habits keep their weight at desirable level.

As soon as you convince yourself that how much you eat at a sitting is largely habit and that with a little forethought you can shrink your stomach down to proper size, you are in control. Never deliberately overeat!

In as short a time as 30 days you can enjoy eating moderate size meals as much as you enjoy overeating now!

—:—

SKEPTICAL? The theme that runs through the letters from triumphant reducers is this: "I wouldn't go back to stuffing for anything on earth! Why didn't I learn about eating to build vital slimness long ago?"

Frankly, I have never known of an overweight who reduced and stayed slim who did it by any other method than by calling a halt to overeating.

Send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for 'Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

High Court Rejects Appeal For Review In Scandal Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Paul LaMonge a trucker convicted of acting as a payoff collector in Warren's sewer project scandal, has been rejected in a bid to have his case reviewed by the Ohio Supreme Court.

The court's refusal Wednesday was on LaMonge's appeal from conviction on charges of receiving a $10,000 payoff and threatening the life of a contractor.

He faces a 5-30 year sentence for threatening the life of Eugene Brady, secretary of the Boam Co., a contracting firm of Lavonia, Mich., and 1-7 years for obtaining the payoffs. The sentences are to run consecutively.

Still pending in the Supreme Court is the appeal of Frank Cickelli, former Trumbull County Democratic chairman sentenced to 2-17 years for soliciting $35,000 from contractors on the sewer project.

LaMonge was identified as the contact man for officials who negotiated for the payoffs. A grand jury indicted LaMonge and Cickelli in 1961 after investigating work delays on the project.

The Supreme Court also turned down the appeal of National Breweries, Inc., from lower court decisions upholding state laws against the offer of premiums in advertising alcoholic beverages.

The company, which has plants in Cincinnati, Toledo, Findlay Springfield and Hamilton, challenged the rule which prevented it from offering non-profit organizations one-half cent for each beer bottle cap of brands handled.

The Supreme Court let stand a $25,000 award to Larry Smallstey for injuries received in an automobile-bus collision Jan. 17, 1959, on Ohio 13 north of Mansfield. Smallstey was aboard a chartered bus of the Loudonville-Mansfield Bus Line, Inc., which collided with a car driven by Lewis G. Oyster. The Common Pleas Court judgment was returned jointly against Oyster and the bus company.

Graduating from the Bergholz area are James Doyle Maple and Evelyn V. Stanley, elementary education.

Sitcom: A No-Progress Report

It's about time I think, that we forgave Charles Dickens for introducing the sitcom (or situation comedy) into the English language. Afer all, it was 125 years ago that "The Pickwick Papers" was published and a small band of jovial comics whisked through a series of rather disjointed adventures—both comic and sentimental—in London and the English countryside.

Alan Gill

DICKENS hurled his Pickwickians into situations of romantic misunderstanding, though not quite in the fashion of Jose Jiminez on "The Danny Thomas Show"; he permitted them to go to jail, though not a jail very similar to the one presided over by Andy Griffith and Don Knotts; he ran them into conflict with the rubes of Dingley Dell and Eatanswill, who were not really the "Beverly Hillbillies" of Dickens' day; and he showed them in the throes of composition, not exactly as we in 1963 watch Dick Van Dyke and his associates drumming up jokes for the celebrated comedian, Alan Brady.

It is, in fact, instructive to contemplate the stars of the aforementioned sitcoms— Danny Thomas, Andy Griffith, Buddy Ebsen and Dick Van Dyke—all fancied up in the silk waistcoats and gold watchchains of Samuel Pickwick, Tracy Tupman, Augustus Snodgrass and Nathaniel Winkle.

IN THAT GUISE and with Mr. Dickens' script, I believe they would be quite, uh . . .

Droll? Well, I guess that's the word that's used over there. Over here, I find Danny Thomas a far cry from droll; but he's been running longer than Wells-Fargo, is more of a household word than Amen is, and gets a better mark at Dun & Bradstreet than AT&T does.

It's Thomas' job to stand by while a despairing Jose Jiminez says, "I was gonna jump into de furnace. Thank goodness they don't allow cooking in the basement."

Or when Jose kisses his hand and blurts, "That tates gooood!"

Or when Jose sums him up: "Mr. Williams, you are a stupid Cupid!"

(I cite these lines only because they were the best of a dried-up crop the other night.)

-:-

THE THOMAS program is a fat success, obviously, but for my money it's desiccated all the way.

"The Andy Griffith Show" is better, I think largely because Griffith has a kind of drop-seat sophistication that makes you forget the scenes he isn't in. ("We gotta call the police." "We are the police.")

Don Knotts was funny the other night, too, as he locked up a couple of desperados and then paced proudly before them, warning them of the strictures here, on "The Rock."

Now the gags on "The Beverly Hillbillies" come at a fellow like parsnip chunks shot from a shootin' arn. Jed, busy solin' shoes, greets Pearl, but rears back from kissin' up with her—"Didn' wanna nail us t'gether, Pearl"—until he pulls the tacks from his mouth.

Psychiatrist to Jethro: "Have you got any brothers?" Jethro: "No, but I got a sister who's got one." Asked later about the psychiatrist, Jethro says, "The poor feller's so sickly he's gotta have a nurse handy all the time."

-:-

IT'S A FIERCE amazement to see how the feller who makes up all that stuff keeps it up, parsnip Chunk upon parsnip chunk, week after week.

Of all the descendants of the Pickwick Club, I find Dick Van Dyke the classiest and funniest. And what makes him classy and funny aren't the gags, it's the sheer, smooth professionalism of his show.

A line that makes you laugh (Buddy: "Anything requires chewing?" Coffee cart man: "Only the cottage cheese") isn't likely to seem deathless in print.

And what's so hilarous about Van Dyke peppering a punching bag in his office, then staggering away from it, still punching at the air with obviously aching knuckles and muttering, "Ooh! Ooh! Ooh!"?

It's charm, I suppose. And it's the nonchalance that disguises toil.

-:-

VAN DYKE for this one viewer is a funny situation comedian, and so are Officers Toody and Muldoon of "Car 54." But almost all of the other sitcoms pall quickly—in five minutes, say.

Why? I suppose it's the law of diminishing returns.

Dickens published his "Pickwick Papers" in monthly installments of 32 pages each. Maybe Thomas, Griffith, Ebsen and Van Dyke should talk CBS into a similar arrangement.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Persons Who Serve Deserve Respect

Relatively few mothers have a full-time person to do the housework and help care for the children. Nearly all mothers, however, have some help, if only an occasional baby sitter. More women would be available for housework in homes where there are children if they were treated by the mother and children as persons with the respect they deserve. The attitude of a child, two, six, nine or sixteen, toward a person who helps about the house, full-time or part-time, depends first of all on the attitude of the mother, revealed by the way she acts toward this person or speaks to her or refers to her in her absence.

USUALLY THE CHILD has learned to wait on himself, take care of his own things and to respect the rights of the other members of the family. Yet the child over six, even though he has been pretty self-sufficient, may soon expect a helper to wait on him and may cause her all sorts of inconvenience and unnecessary work. Besides, he may speak discourteously to her.

In addition to the consequent injustice to the helping person is the moral harm to the child from such attitudes and ways of his. Our first interest being his best moral growth, we parents need to give this matter our serious consideration.

Let us, therefore, watch our ways toward all persons who serve us — the garbageman, milkman, postman, the clerk at the store, the waitress at the restaurant, as well as toward the persons who do work for us in the home. Do we always treat them as real persons, just as we ourselves would like to be treated in their places?

It's my opinion that we parents would do well never to refer to a domestic helper as a maid but by her real name as an individual precious person.

Not only should we set good examples in our own attitude toward them but also should rebuke or restrain our children when they are discourteous to helpers. Incidentally, it is generally growing easier for us to respect all such helpers, as their earnings often equal or exceed our own.

INDEED, THE RISE in wages in recent decades of all who serve us with their heads, feet and hands has been a mighty force for promoting personal justice and the dignity of all workers.

Parents who discipline their young children well prepare these children to cooperate with the baby sitter and to respect her as a person.

As you know, I have urged parents to train the tot needing restraint to profit from chair-sitting punishment. If he is so trained, the mother can pretty safely inform the baby sitter, in the youngster's presence, that she may resort to this measure of control if she considers it necessary.

See, too, what resources are available to the baby sitter if the tot has learned to enjoy creative fun with toys and being read to.

My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "The Very Selfish Child", may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Replace Worn Flags, Goodballet Requests

Prompted by a letter from an Alliance Cub Scout, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet today requested East Liverpool business places and householders to replace U. S. flags that have become dirty and torn.

The Cub Scout wrote the mayor, explaining that he observed an "old, dirty, torn flag" flying in front of a business place in a recent trip through East Liverpool. He said he wrote to the proprietor suggesting it be replaced, but received no reply.

Citing the approach of Memorial Day, Mayor Goodballet asked East Liverpool residents to check the condition of their flags and replace any that are worn or discolored.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Persons Who Serve Deserve Respect

Relatively few mothers have a full-time person to do the housework and help care for the children. Nearly all mothers, however, have some help, if only an occasional baby sitter. More women would be available for housework in homes where there are children if they were treated by the mother and children as persons with the respect they deserve. The attitude of a child, two, six, nine or sixteen, toward a person who helps about the house, full-time or part-time, depends first of all on the attitude of the mother, revealed by the way she acts toward this person or speaks to her or refers to her in her absence.

USUALLY THE CHILD has learned to wait on himself, take care of his own things and to respect the rights of the other members of the family. Yet the child over six, even though he has been pretty self-sufficient, may soon expect a helper to wait on him and may cause her all sorts of inconvenience and unnecessary work. Besides, he may speak discourteously to her.

In addition to the consequent injustice to the helping person is the moral harm to the child from such attitudes and ways of his. Our first interest being his best moral growth, we parents need to give this matter our serious consideration.

Let us, therefore, watch our ways toward all persons who serve us — the garbageman, milkman, postman, the clerk at the store, the waitress at the restaurant, as well as toward the persons who do work for us in the home. Do we always treat them as real persons, just as we ourselves would like to be treated in their places?

It's my opinion that we parents would do well never to refer to a domestic helper as a maid but by her real name as an individual precious person.

Not only should we set good examples in our own attitude toward them but also should rebuke or restrain our children when they are discourteous to helpers. Incidentally, it is generally growing easier for us to respect all such helpers, as their earnings often equal or exceed our own.

INDEED, THE RISE in wages in recent decades of all who serve us with their heads, foet and hands has been a mighty force for promoting personal justice and the dignity of all workers.

Parents who discipline their young children well prepare these children to cooperate with the baby sitter and to respect her as a person.

As you know, I have urged parents to train the tot needing restraint to profit from chair-sitting punishment. If he is so trained, the mother can pretty safely inform the baby sitter, in the youngster's presence, that she may resort to this measure of control if she considers it necessary.

See, too, what resources are available to the baby sitter if the tot has learned to enjoy creative fun with toys and being read to.

My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "The Very Selfish Child", may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Replace Worn Flags, Goodballet Requests

Prompted by a letter from an Alliance Cub Scout, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet today requested East Liverpool business places and householders to replace U. S. flags that have become dirty and torn.

The Cub Scout wrote the mayor, explaining that he observed an "old, dirty, torn flag" flying in front of a business place in a recent trip through East Liverpool. He said he wrote to the proprietor suggesting it be replaced, but received no reply.

Citing the approach of Memorial Day, Mayor Goodballet asked East Liverpool residents to check the condition of their flags and replace any that are worn or discolored.

4 Camp Fire Girls' Groups Get Charters At Ceremony

Four groups of Camp Fire Girls received charters at ceremonies Monday night at the First Church of Christ, the sponsoring unit.

John N. Mostoller, minister, gave the invocation and presented charters to: Group 1, a Junior Hi unit, Mrs. Lorna Hall, guardian; Group 2, Mrs. Jo Ann Carter and Mrs. Vera Smith, guardians; Group 3, Mrs. Agnes Webber and Mrs. June Starkey, guardians, and Group 4, Miss Ruth Ann Hammon and Mrs. Letitia Hammon, guardians. The last three groups are Camp Fire Girls.

Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Roberta Ruthem will serve as guardians for the new Blue Bird group, not yet registered.

WO - He - Lo candles in red, white and blue were lighted by Mary Jane Cunningham, Connie Foden and Beth Thornton. As the candles were lighted for each group, they gave their Indian name and repeated their desires. The blue candle represented the Blue Birds.

The girls wore their Indian ceremonial gowns, decorated with honor beads earned by each girl. The program began with the WO-He-Lo call and Indian processional accompanied by Miss Jo Ann Vannoy at the piano.

Susan Ruthem gave the Camp Fire Girls Credo as the girls were seated around a camp fire. Group singing was featured.

Debbie Gregg, Glenda Webber and Sue Basham extinguished the candles and the units retired, carrying their candles.

Movies were taken by Miss Lora Lee Hall. George Marshall took pictures.

Refreshments were served to about 135 parents and church members.

The five groups meet each Monday at the church and are the first units registered as Camp Fire Girls in East Liverpool.

Committee Ends Hearings

Senate Action Expected In 2 Weeks On Blue Law

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — It will be another week, possibly two, before the Senate judiciary committee decides which, if any, Blue Law bill to send to the Senate floor.

The committee wound up public hearings on four bills in a marathon session Wednesday during which more than 20 witnesses testified.

Committee Chairman Fred Hoffman, R-Cincinnati, said the committee will begin voting on the bills individually next Wednesday and may hear testimony on any amendments "considered extremely important to a bill."

Hoffman said he is certain at least 10 amendments will be offered to the House-passed bill that bans Sunday sales of real or personal property except for a broad list of items deemed necessary to the health, safety or welfare of the buyer.

That bill is being pegged as the most likely to reach the Senate floor if committee members can agree on the troublesome list of exempted commodities.

Most of the objections to the bill have been directed at the commodity list, which witnesses say contains countless inconsistencies

Hoffman said the House bill will be the last to be considered by the committee. 'I feel reasonably sure that we'll get to the other three Wednesday," he said, but he was not certain the committee would have time during that session to vote on the House bill.

The committee has been considering the bills at the relaxed rate of once a week for two months. Hoffman has been scheduling the bills last on the usually lengthy judiciary calendar. The committee convenes at 9:30 a. m. But Blue Law testimony rarely starts before 11.

The other three bills being considered would:

Repeal all Sunday closing legislation.

Repeal the Blue Laws with the provision that there could be no advertising for Sunday business and no special Sunday sales.

Tighten the penalty section of the existing law.

Hoffman said he has no idea which bill the committee will go for, but he indicated a bill would be reported out. "There has been no consensus that I've seen among the members," he said. "We'll report a bill that four of the seven can agree on."

Another member of the committee, Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, said he definitely would vote against any move to repeal the Blue Laws.

"I'm opposed to repeal," said Sargus, "and I'm concerned about 209 (the House bill) as to the items that can be sold on Sunday — the commodity list. I think the list needs tightening."

On the other hand, Sen. Charles H. Jones, R-Hamilton, said he would support expansion of the list.

Marion Company Sues Two Firms For $1.7 Million

CLEVELAND (AP) — Huber-Warco Co. of Marion is seeking $1.7 million from two companies it sued in Common Pleas Court. Also involved is a lawsuit in the Supreme Court of Victoria, Australia.

Huber - Warco, which makes road graders, sued the Rockewell Standard Corp. for $1,316,663 and the Westinghouse Electric Corp. for $416,556 for damages because of allegedly defective transmissions.

According to petitions filed Wednesday, Burns Weston, lawyer for Huber-Warco, said transmissions made by Rockwell and Westinghouse are used in the Marion firm's road graders.

Huber-Warco alleged that transmissions sold by both defendants were defective, breached implied warranties and brought losses to Huber-Warco because of needed repairs and impairment of reputation.

Huber-Warco said it also sent Rockwell transmissions to Steelwald Proprietary Ltd. of Melbourne, Victoria, which, Weston said, is suing Huber-Warco for $775,579.

Huber-Warco asked that Rockwell be made to cover whatever loss Huber suffers in the Australian suit.

Man Slays His Wife Then Kills Himself

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A Liberty Township painter whose wife had threatened divorce shot his wife, then killed himself, Trumbull County sheriff's deputies report.

Deputies said John Lapp, 39, shot his wife, Marilyn, 38, in the back with a shotgun Wednesday, carried the body outside, put it on the ground and shot himself in the chest.

Probers Seek Cause Of Crash Fatal To 2

LUKE AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (AP)—Investigators tried today to determine what caused the crash of an F100F jet trainer in which two Air Force officers were killed.

The crash northwest of Phoenix Wednesday killed Capt. James W. Church, 31, an instructor pilot whose parents live in Akron, Ohio, and student pilot Lawrence P. Vacirca, 23, of Los Angeles.

Officers Probe 'Hill Rd.' Mishap

Police are continuing investigation of a hit - skip collison Wednesday at 2:15 p. m. on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." in which a Georgetown woman's auto was damaged.

Mrs. Frances Finley told officers the left rear fender and bumper of her eastbound 1956 sedan were damaged by an oncoming auto that failed to halt after the crash. She said the approaching auto forced her to turn toward the berm, but before she could get clear of the pavement her car was struck. She gave police a description of the auto and the license number.

Police said the license number was registered in the name of a Bedford Heights woman. Following the "Hill Rd." crash, a man phoned headquarters and reported his auto had been struck while parked on Walnut St. near Bradshaw Ave. His name and the license number checked with the car allegedly involved in the "Hill Rd." crash, police said.

The man was told to remain at the scene until a cruiser arrived to investigate, but when the officer arrived the motorist was gone, police said.

Ex-Airport Head To Be Arraigned

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Fred A. Bailey, former manager of the Akron-Canton Airport, faces arraignment May 27 on 20 indictments charging him with embezzlement, falsifying records and grand larceny.

Bailey was freed on $1,500 bond Wednesday after he surrendered voluntarily to Summit County authorities following his return from Florida.

A county grand jury last week secretly indicted Bailey on the charges which were made public after his arrest. The indictments stemmed from a state examiner's report charging that Bailey was responsible for $3,300 in missing airport funds and equipment.

Bailey left his job at Akron-Canton Airport last June when a state examiner was checking the records. He later became manager of Blue Grass field in Lexington, Ky., but no longer holds that job.

Heroism Awards Go To Girl, 15, And Man

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The first recipients of the Lake County Firemen's Association's new heroism awards are a 15-year-old Painesville girl and a North Madison man.

Plaques were presented Wednesday to Shirley Young and O. K. Bush Jr. The girl was cited for saving her two younger sisters in a fire that swept their home Dec. 21. Bush rescued two small boys who had been swept under the ice in a rain-swollen creek near his home March 12.

Shotgun Blast Kills Man Outside Tavern

CLEVELAND (AP) — Thomas Moon, 23, was killed outside an East Side bar early today by a shotgun blast in the stomach.

Police said the assailant has been identified and he was being sought.

Officers said Clarence Davis, a friend of the victim, was wounded in the hand trying to push Moon out of the line of fire. He was taken to a hospital.

Committee Ends Hearings

Senate Action Expected In 2 Weeks On Blue Law

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — It will be another week, possibly two, before the Senate judiciary committee decides which, if any, Blue Law bill to send to the Senate floor.

The committee wound up public hearings on four bills in a marathon session Wednesday during which more than 20 witnesses testified.

Committee Chairman Fred Hoffman, R-Cincinnati, said the committee will begin voting on the bills individually next Wednesday and may hear testimony on any amendments "considered extremely important to a bill."

Hoffman said he is certain at least 10 amendments will be offered to the House-passed bill that bans Sunday sales of real or personal property except for a broad list of items deemed necessary to the health, safety or welfare of the buyer.

That bill is being pegged as the most likely to reach the Senate floor if committee members can agree on the troublesome list of exempted commodities.

Most of the objections to the bill have been directed at the commodity list, which witnesses say contains countless inconsistencies

Hoffman said the House bill will be the last to be considered by the committee. 'I feel reasonably sure that we'll get to the other three Wednesday," he said, but he was not certain the committee would have time during that session to vote on the House bill.

The committee has been considering the bills at the relaxed rate of once a week for two months. Hoffman has been scheduling the bills last on the usually lengthy judiciary calendar. The committee convenes at 9:30 a. m. But Blue Law testimony rarely starts before 11.

The other three bills being considered would:

Repeal all Sunday closing legislation.

Repeal the Blue Laws with the provision that there could be no advertising for Sunday business and no special Sunday sales.

Tighten the penalty section of the existing law.

Hoffman said he has no idea which bill the committee will go for, but he indicated a bill would be reported out. "There has been no consensus that I've seen among the members," he said. "We'll report a bill that four of the seven can agree on."

Another member of the committee, Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, said he definitely would vote against any move to repeal the Blue Laws.

"I'm opposed to repeal," said Sargus, "and I'm concerned about 209 (the House bill) as to the items that can be sold on Sunday — the commodity list. I think the list needs tightening."

On the other hand, Sen. Charles H. Jones, R-Hamilton, said he would support expansion of the list.

Educator Claimed

PLEASANT VALLEY, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Edna Carter, 91, professor emeritus of physics at Vassar Collge, died Tuesday. She was a member of the Vassar faculty for 36 years until her retirement in 1941.

Marion Company Sues Two Firms For $1.7 Million

CLEVELAND (AP) — Huber-Warco Co. of Marion is seeking $1.7 million from two companies it sued in Common Pleas Court. Also involved is a lawsuit in the Supreme Court of Victoria, Australia.

Huber - Warco, which makes road graders, sued the Rockewell Standard Corp. for $1,316,663 and the Westinghouse Electric Corp. for $416,556 for damages because of allegedly defective transmissions.

According to petitions filed Wednesday, Burns Weston, lawyer for Huber-Warco, said transmissions made by Rockwell and Westinghouse are used in the Marion firm's road graders.

Huber-Warco alleged that transmissions sold by both defendants were defective, breached implied warranties and brought losses to Huber-Warco because of needed repairs and impairment of reputation.

Huber-Warco said it also sent Rockwell transmissions to Steelwald Proprietary Ltd. of Melbourne, Victoria, which, Weston said, is suing Huber-Warco for $775,579.

Huber-Warco asked that Rockwell be made to cover whatever loss Huber suffers in the Australian suit.

Man Slays His Wife Then Kills Himself

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A Liberty Township painter whose wife had threatened divorce shot his wife, then killed himself, Trumbull County sheriff's deputies report.

Deputies said John Lapp, 39, shot his wife, Marilyn, 38, in the back with a shotgun Wednesday, carried the body outside, put it on the ground and shot himself in the chest.

Probers Seek Cause Of Crash Fatal To 2

LUKE AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (AP)—Investigators tried today to determine what caused the crash of an F100F jet trainer in which two Air Force officers were killed.

The crash northwest of Phoenix Wednesday killed Capt. James W. Church, 31, an instructor pilot whose parents live in Akron, Ohio, and student pilot Lawrence P. Vacirca, 23, of Los Angeles.

Officers Probe 'Hill Rd.' Mishap

Police are continuing investigation of a hit - skip collison Wednesday at 2:15 p. m. on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." in which a Georgetown woman's auto was damaged.

Mrs. Frances Finley told officers the left rear fender and bumper of her eastbound 1956 sedan were damaged by an oncoming auto that failed to halt after the crash. She said the approaching auto forced her to turn toward the berm, but before she could get clear of the pavement her car was struck. She gave police a description of the auto and the license number.

Police said the license number was registered in the name of a Bedford Heights woman. Following the "Hill Rd." crash, a man phoned headquarters and reported his auto had been struck while parked on Walnut St. near Bradshaw Ave. His name and the license number checked with the car allegedly involved in the "Hill Rd." crash, police said.

The man was told to remain at the scene until a cruiser arrived to investigate, but when the officer arrived the motorist was gone, police said.

Ex-Airport Head To Be Arraigned

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Fred A. Bailey, former manager of the Akron-Canton Airport, faces arraignment May 27 on 20 indictments charging him with embezzlement, falsifying records and grand larceny.

Bailey was freed on $1,500 bond Wednesday after he surrendered voluntarily to Summit County authorities following his return from Florida.

A county grand jury last week secretly indicted Bailey on the charges which were made public after his arrest. The indictments stemmed from a state examiner's report charging that Bailey was responsible for $3,300 in missing airport funds and equipment.

Bailey left his job at Akron-Canton Airport last June when a state examiner was checking the records. He later became manager of Blue Grass field in Lexington, Ky., but no longer holds that job.

Heroism Awards Go To Girl, 15, And Man

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The first recipients of the Lake County Firemen's Association's new heroism awards are a 15-year-old Painesville girl and a North Madison man.

Plaques were presented Wednesday to Shirley Young and O. K. Bush Jr. The girl was cited for saving her two younger sisters in a fire that swept their home Dec. 21. Bush rescued two small boys who had been swept under the ice in a rain-swollen creek near his home March 12.

Shotgun Blast Kills Man Outside Tavern

CLEVELAND (AP) — Thomas Moon, 23, was killed outside an East Side bar early today by a shotgun blast in the stomach.

Police said the assailant has been identified and he was being sought.

Officers said Clarence Davis, a friend of the victim, was wounded in the hand trying to push Moon out of the line of fire. He was taken to a hospital.

ELKTON AUCTION, ELKTON, OHIO
ELKTON AUCTION MARKET REPORT
MAY 11

We wish to thank all of the farmers and dealers for the nice run of stock we received. The prices have been steady for the past two weeks.

Calves and hogs were stronger and feeder cattle sold very strong.

If you have any stock to sell, we would appreciate it if you would give us a chance to sell it for you. We are sure you would be satisfied as so many others have been satisfied in the past.

Elkton has always been a good market, where you meet your friends and neighbors, buyers and sellers. Its also a good place to make new friends. This is a "comer" and "buyer" sale.

Please attend our Saturday 1 P. M. cattle sale.

Horse, pony and equipment sale every Wednesday evening at 7 P. M.

State-wide service program for used car buyers
of Guaranteed Warranty
15% discount on all parts AND 15% discount on all labor for one full year on any Guaranteed Warranty used car

We have joined with hundreds of other members of the OHIO Automobile Dealers Association to provide the used car buyer with a state-wide discount program on parts and labor. To receive and use this discount privilege, buy your next used car from us. We belong to the Guaranteed Warranty Program.

1. Buy a warranted used car from any one of the dealers listed in this announcement. With your car, you will receive a Guaranteed Warranty certificate and a listing of all dealers throughout OHIO who are members of the program. Automatically, you have a 15% repair discount privilege on that car in the garage of any member dealer in any part of OHIO for one full year after purchase.

2. If your car needs any repairs at all during the year, except as a result of accident, take it to the dealer from whom it was purchased or, when traveling, to any GW Dealer shown in your OHIO listing or to any GW Dealer in the United States or Canada. Have your car repaired, then show the dealer your Guaranteed Warranty Certificate. He will then discount 15% from your total bill for all replacement parts and labor.

The Guaranteed Warranty discount program is the first and only state-wide used car warranty plan approved by the OHIO AUTOMOBILE DEALERS ASSOCIATION.

1. Buy a warranted used car from any one of the dealers listed in this announcement. With your car, you will receive a Guaranteed Warranty certificate and a listing of all dealers throughout OHIO who are members of the program. Automatically, you have a 15% repair discount privilege on that car in the garage of any member dealer in any part of OHIO for one full year after purchase.

2. If your car needs any repairs at all during the year, except as a result of accident, take it to the dealer from whom it was purchased or, when traveling, to any GW Dealer shown in your OHIO listing or to any GW Dealer in the United States or Canada. Have your car repaired, then show the dealer your Guaranteed Warranty Certificate. He will then discount 15% from your total bill for all replacement parts and labor.

Junior Editors Quiz on ACCORDIONS

QUESTION: Is the accordion a woodwind, percussion, string or brass instrument?

ANSWER: The accordion does not belong to any of the instrumental groups mentioned in the question. It is a member of the free-reed family of instruments, the earliest of which is an ancient Chinese instrument, the "cheng" (A). At the base of each reed which vibrated when air was blown in through the mouthhole.

Instrument makers in Europe began to experiment with this principle in the 1820's. Small brass reeds which could vibrate freely between an opening were set in metal plates and arranged so air could be blown in them, making musical tones when the reeds vibrated. The harmonica or mouth organ where the air is blown in, and the accordion and concertina where the air is pumped in with a bellows, were thus invented. The first accordions had only a simple scale and two keys to give the bass accompaniment. But they were easy to play and were favorites with sailors who liked the swinging rhythm which the pumping of the bellows gives to this kind of instrument. When (main picture) a piano keyboard was added on the right side and 90 or more base buttons on the left, the accordion really grew up, and became the extremely popular dance and orchestra instrument it is today.

FOR YOU TO DO: Learn to "tongue" a harmonica. With high notes to right, use your tongue to cover all of the doubled openings which are between your lips, except the one to extreme right. When you blow, this will give a single melody note. Now move tongue off and on other openings to get accompaniment.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing to you in the hope a close friend of mine will see my letter. To put it realistically, I should say I hope someone will see it and call it to her attention.

This is the problem — she doesn't see a darned thing but she's too vain to wear glasses.

The woman is in her late 40s, very good-looking, and easily could pass for 35, if she didn't have deep furrows in her forehead and crow's feet around her eyes, which, of course, are the result of years of squinting.

She also has a reputation as a snob which is undeserved. The women passes up people on the street right and left because she doesn't see them.

Please, Ann, a few lines in your column may encourage these foolish people to get the help they need. Thank you.—MRS. 20-20 WITH GLASSES.

Dear 20-20: Here is the letter. I hope someone reads it to your friend. Glasses these days are so smart, many a girl has faked myopia.

Well-designed specs often add to a person's appearance. And incidentally, some aging matrons look years younger in glasses because the frames hide the pouches under the eyes. And for those who have an aversion to glasses, there are contact lenses.

Family Bread Winner

Dear Ann: I am 18 years old and I have been married for two months. My husband lost his job the same week we were married. I took on a night job in addition to my eight-hour day shift because we owe on a car, appliances, furniture, clothing and he was up to his neck in debt before we married.

I get only four or five hours sleep at night and when I'm awake I'm on the go every minute. I believe my husband is really trying to find work but things are tough in this town and he hasn't had any luck.

I'm not complaining about his unemployment, but rather that he refuses to do anything around the apartment to help me. He won't shop for groceries or straighten up the place or even start supper.

When I get home exhausted, I have to cook, clean and do the washing and ironing. If I'm expecting too much from him please let me know. I'll take your advice.—HANDS FULL.

Dear Full: Eighteen years old, married two months and off to a lousy start. You could have waited awhile for this deal.

That husband of yours should be helping straighten the apartment, he should be doing the marketing, the cooking and anything else which might make your life easier. Any woman who has proved her willingness to go the extra mile, as you have, deserves all the help she can get.

Time Nor Place

Dear Ann: Several months ago my husband and I entertained a couple in our home. When they left, the woman said, "We had a lovely time. And now you must come to see us sometime."

My husband has been nagging me ever since to go visit these people. I keep telling him we'll go when we get an invitation. He insists we have been invited and repeats the "come and see us sometime" line.

I have told him repeatedly that I don't consider this an invitation but he claims I am thin-skinned and too formal.

If I am wrong about this I wish you would tell me. If my husband is wrong, please tell him so he will get off my back. Thank you.—NOT SURE.

-:-

Dear Not: "Come and see us sometime" is a polite phrase equivalent to "how are you?" About 95 per cent of the people who ask, "How are you?" don't really care. And the same goes for people who say, "Come and see us sometime."

A meaningful invitation includes a specific day and time.

-:-

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Machinists' Union Okays Boeing Pact

SEATTLE Wash. (AP) — The AFL-CIO Machinists' Union's acceptance of a new contract with the Boeing Co. spells the end of 10 months of bickering and three threatened strikes at the big aerospace firm.

For the 41,000 hourly workers to whom it applies, the pact spells financial reward and an end to uncertainty.

Best estimates Wednesday after word the contract was approved 14,205 to 4,688 in last Friday's balloting was almost $30-million in salary increases during the three-year life of the agreement, with an average retroactive pay of about $200.

In the Seattle-Renton area, where the firm is headquartered and where about 31,000 of the affected employes work, it means that about $5 million will be pumped into the local economy in a special payday June 21.

The contract provides boosts of 22 to 32 cents hourly improvement in employe rating, union security and other benefits. Present scales range from $1.98½ to $3.27½ an hour.

First pay raises will appear in June 7 checks. The retroactive pay, amounting to about $7 million for all the affected workers, dates back to Sept. 16 when the old contract expired. It will appear in June 21st paychecks.

South Side PTA Picks Officers, Receives Report

Mrs. Franklin Walker was returned as president of the South Side Parent - Teacher Association at a meeting Monday night at Hookstown.

Mrs. Madeline Christy was named new vice president; Mrs. Virginia Powell, secretary, and Mrs. Rita Pursiful, treasurer.

Devotions were led by the Rev. James Holliday of the Mt. Olivet Presbyterian Church, who also conducted installation.

Mrs. Marie Andrews reported about $122 has been collected so far in the library fund drive and that the drive for books and money for the purchase of books is continuing.

Richard Davis of the finance committee recommended the purchase of a typewriter for the school newspaper and a Polaroid camera for the elementary school with money in the treasury at the end of the term.

Mrs. Walker appointed Mr. and Mrs. Russell West and Mrs. Peggy Davis to audit the books by June 30.

Attendance banners were won by Mrs. Freda Ashcroft's third grade room for the elementary building, and Mrs. Catherine Bender's room for the high school.

New officers will meet May 29 at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Christy of Shippingport. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Joseph Schaffer's committee.

Ohio's Labor Leaders Hail Success Of Demonstration

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio labor leaders have hailed as a huge success a mass demonstration at the Statehouse against proposed legislative changes to tighten payment procedures for injured and unemployed workers.

"We think it showed, beyond any doubt, that the workers of Ohio are seriously concerned over the possible effects of this legislation on the unemployed and injured," said Elmer F. Cope, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

A crowd estimated at 8,000-10,000 by the AFL-CIO staged the hours-long march around Capitol Square Wednesday. Most of the demonstrators carried placards, and one effigy was hanged. It was surmounted by a sign, "Don't lynch the unemployed."

Below the effigy was another sign that said "Gov. Rhodes," but AFL-CIO Local 1330 of Youngstown, which hanged the effigy, said this was simply to call the display to the governor's attention.

Targets of the demonstrations were House Bill 222 and Senate Bill 131. House Bill 222 increases employer contributions into the unemployment compensation fund but takes away several liberalizing provisions enacted by the 1959 Democratic legislature. The measure has been approved by the House and is pending in the Senate.

The Senate bill, which has been passed by the Senate and is awaiting action by the House, relates to workmen's compensation and gives employers more latitude in appealing cases and tightens procedures against suspected malingering.
